"With These Hands"

"With these hands." Okay, so you're probably wondering what in the world that saying has to do with this yearbook. Well, if you think about it, we've had to use our hands in school for as long as we can remember. In elementary school, we had to hold hands to walk from place to place and fingerpaint. In middle school, we had to raise our hands to ask a question, make a comment, or say anything else we thought was worth mentioning. Now, we are in high school. Our hands play an important part of everyday life. Without your hands, you couldn't catch a football, sink a free throw, knock the baseball out of the park, or wallop a golf ball. Without your hands, you couldn't draw, paint, sculpt, or write. You wouldn't be able to play an instrument, build anything in shop, or finish the abundant amount of homework the teachers seem to enjoy giving. Joining our hands together, we can accomplish anything we set our minds to. Whether it be towards academics, sports, art, music, or lending a helping hand in one of the many clubs, using your hands is an essential part of existence. As you look through this yearbook, see what the students and teachers of Seneca are doing "with these hands."

Many different kinds of people make up Seneca High School. There are different fashions and groups of friends. Each person is unique in their own special way. Some may play sports, while others may like to act. Some like to sing, while others may like to play an instrument. The variety of personalities found here makes our school the way it is!

Lesley Irvin

Everybody can get involved here at Seneca High School, whether it is acting in a play, participating in a sport, reading a book, writing a pro or con case, or even studying facts just for one's knowledge. The student life at SHS consists of many things. Our tiny school has a huge variety of student life.

Teri Lankford

STUDENT LIFE

Student life... how would you describe it? Maybe it is the fun you have when trying to learn something new. Or the crazy things people do in high school. Whatever it is, people find a way to have fun. Student life is the best; at least student life is better than a teacher's life.

Amanda Woodward

Everyone's unique
In one way or another.
In a school so small
All people know each other.

Whether class clowns
Or those who don't say a word,
Some people are normal
While some are absurd.

New friendships are made
While students try to be cool,
These are some of the aspects of student life at Seneca High School.

Valari Eby

Students wake up every day looking forward to getting educated by the wonderful teachers at Seneca High School. The life of students is very busy and full of adventure. Many changes were made throughout SHS this year, so the students had to change a little bit of their daily routine in school. Without the lifestyles of students, Seneca wouldn't be as interesting!

Girls get ready looking picture-perfect
all day,
When guys get ready, 15 minutes before heading that way.
Limos, Hummers, whatever car you choose,
At dinner time money is what the guys lose.
Taking pictures before the day has gone,
Boutonnieres are really hard to get on!
Dancing to Salsa, Rap, and Swing
music was hot,
Can't believe there were so many people dancing a lot!
To the junior class,
Mrs. Yust, and Mr. Yust too,
Thanks for making a perfect prom night come true!

Oh yes, it's SHS Homecoming again! The football players carry on the tradition of nominating the queen candidates. This year the team chose: from the freshmen class, Kari Sill; from the sophomore class, Ashley Prince; from the junior class, Meghan Mayberry; and from the senior class, Whitney Chapman.

I asked junior candidate Meghan Mayberry what would be the best part about winning homecoming queen, and she replied, "Winning." Well, I think we all know winning is, indeed, the best part of everything! Ashley Prince, the sophomore candidate, said, "The most exciting part of being one of the candidates was dressing up and looking like a princess!"

The votes from the student body were made on Friday, October 1, 2004. The voting was announced that night at the coronation, and it was a close one. The student body of Seneca High School voted Whitney Chapman, the senior candidate, as its 2004 Football Homecoming Queen.

Even though we lost our homecoming game and it began to downpour right before the coronation, this was an awesome experience and an unforgettable memory for these four girls.

--Amber Lawson

What do high-heeled shoes, starving boys, nasty mats, and four nervous girls have in common? Well, they were all part of the 2004-2005 SHS Wrestling Homecoming Ceremony! This year at Seneca High School the four nervous, yet beautiful queen candidates waited patiently in the library for their big moment; and when the time came, stepped onto the mats (without tripping) to wait for the big announcement. Who would it be? The freshman, Danica Morgan; the sophomore, Tana Hughes; the junior, Lauren Sappington; or the senior, Caitlin Scheurich? And the student body chose...senior Caitlin Scheurich as their Queen! Presenting queen Caitlin with her crown, flowers, and traditional kiss was senior Josh Manley. And when it was all over, Caitlin felt: "Relieved!" When asked what the most memorable part of her whole night was, junior Lauren Sappington responded: "I'll definitely remember getting all dressed up and hearing my friends yell for me when I walked into the gym. Oh yeah, I'll remember Tana's light-up shoes too!" Following the coronation the Seneca "wrestlers" did a wonderful job of beating Carthage to wrap up a great evening!

Basketball homecoming is always a very spirited time. Spirit week started with the much loved "Come as you are day." The best part of the pep rally was seeing senior varsity players get a make-over by senior girl basketball players. Daven Divine, Josh Hembree, and Andy Blair got their makeup done by the blindfolded girls--Isaac Roelfsema was nowhere to be found. Josh Hembree was voted prettiest in his makeup.

All the queen candidates were very excited to be chosen. Senior Tashina Mailes stated: "It's great to be this year's SHS Basketball Homecoming Queen. If I had to pick a sport to be queen of, it would definitely be basketball because I love the sport." She's always been very involved with basketball and even though she had to "hobble" down the court because of recent surgery, she deserved to be queen. Although the team lost in overtime, the girls all looked very pretty. Andy Blair added a little humor to the night as he first gave Tashina just a handshake, but he eventually came back and gave her a kiss. The bubbly redhead Jessica Baker said: "It was a good ol' time hanging out with friends in my dress, and it couldn't have been any more fun with any other candidates. World Peace Out, Baby!"

Maverick and Melea, the pride of our youth,
This can be said for it is the truth.
Their wisdom is great and spirit unequalled,
Nobody can wait for the Star Wars sequel.
Together combined their talents are many,
Two greater freshmen, you cannot find any.

Sophomores are Raine and Zach,
"Book Brains" are something they don't lack.
They represent school colors: red, white, and blue,
Zach's hair looks nice... wouldn't you say so too?
Candidates for Warrior King and Queen,
Out of the class that is stuck in between!

Amanda and Brennan are so darn cool,
They excel in sports & do "good" in school.
With the will to succeed and do their best,
Our junior candidates stand out from the rest.
They're smart, fun & talented too.
People like them, well there's only a few!

Isaac and Mandy are seniors who rule,
Because they are Warrior King and Queen of the school.
Playing basketball and maintaining straight A's,
Is something they do all of their days.
With high academics and skills on their feet,
These are two seniors who can't be beat.

HANDS OFF!!!

Above: Aren't they adorable!
Right: Umm, that's kind of cute
--if you think about it. Across the Bottom: Who do these people belong to? HINT:
Opposite sex of course.

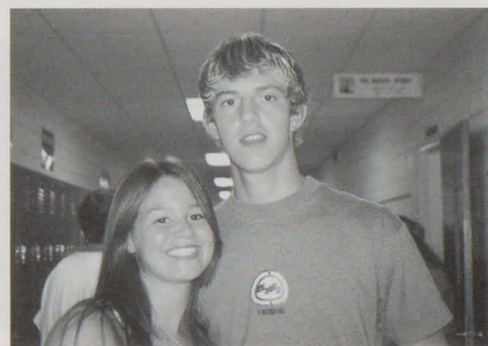

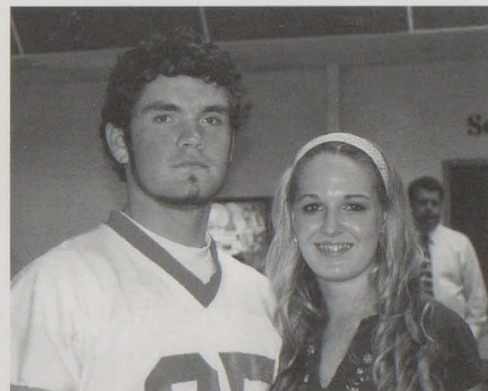

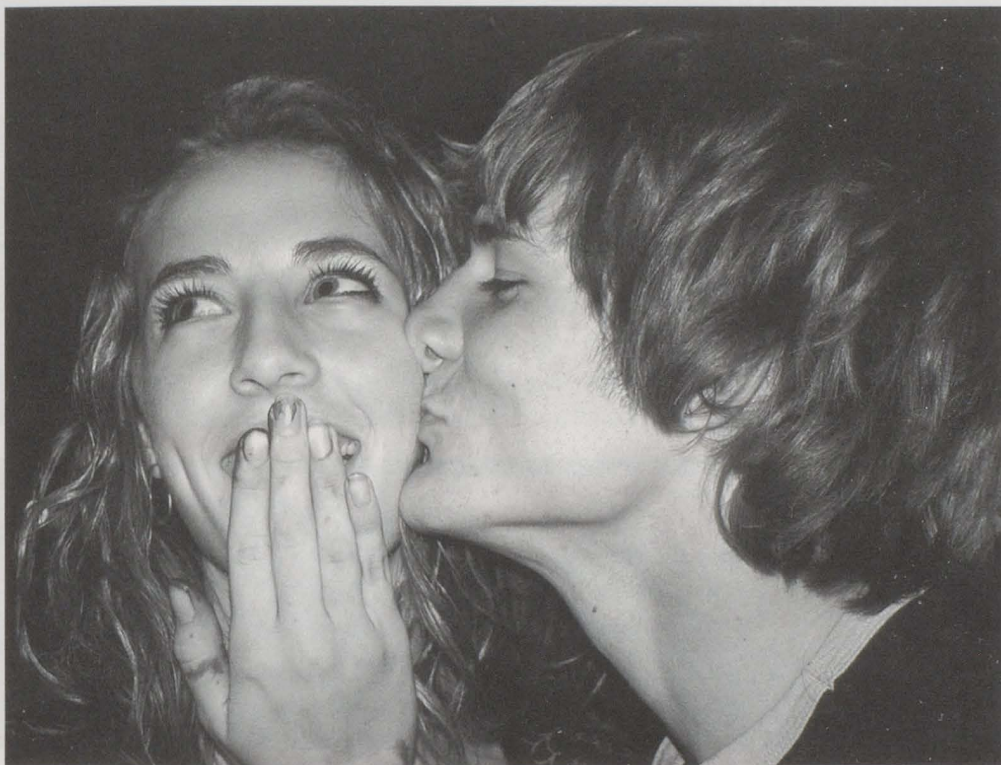

HANDS OFF!!! You see it everyday: all the cute little couples walking down the halls together, holding hands, talking about their plans for the weekend, and telling each other how much they love one another. It is so sweet that it's disgusting. Some of these "adorable" couples are new to the game of love, while others have been playing for quite a while. Who are some of these love birds? Well, we've picked out some people who aren't too shy with PDA, some people are still hookin' up, some who have good potential, and some who are just plain weird.

Lesley Irwin

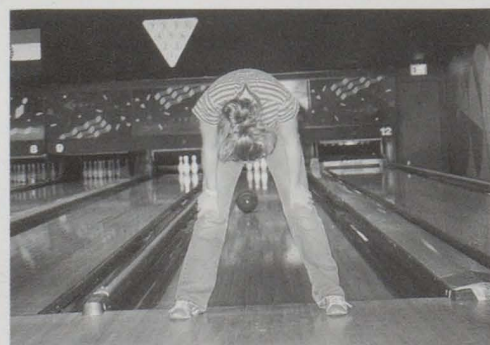

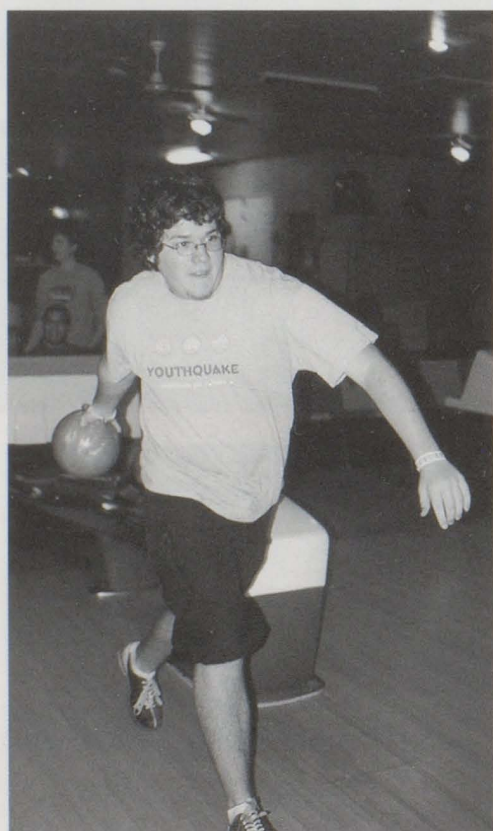

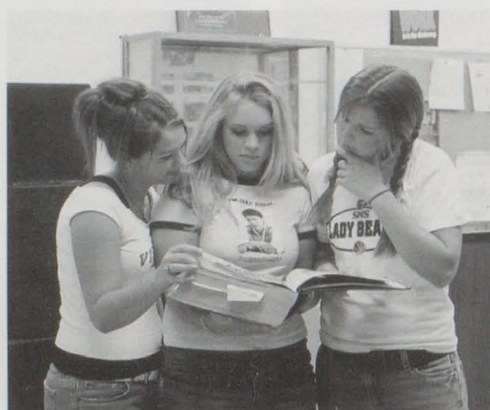

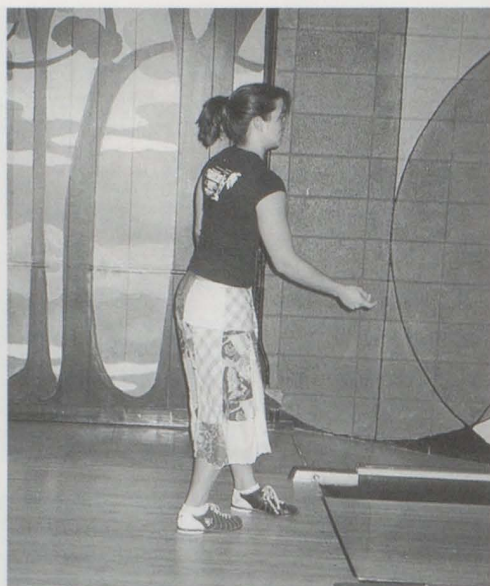

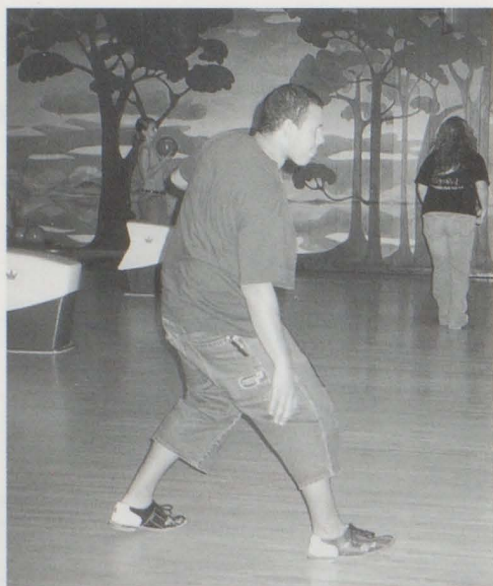

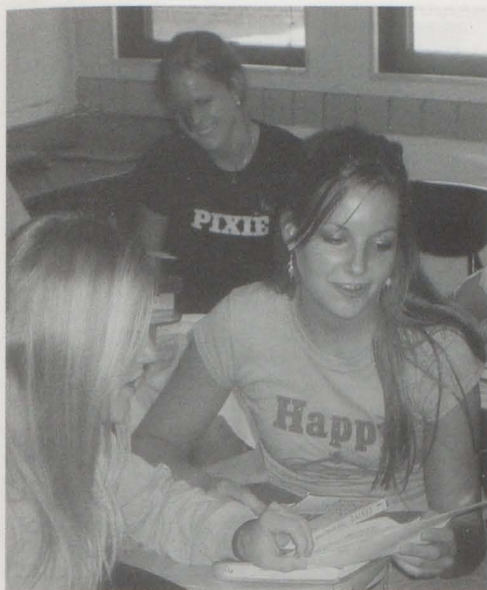

"It's been an honor to make this yearbook and boss people around! I am sort of on a power trip!!"

If you were to look outside in the parking lots of Seneca High School, you would find a wide variety of cars. Some really nice, while others...aren't so nice. Sweet sixteen, we all look forward to that day so that our parents don't have to be our own taxi cabs anymore. More freedom, but also more responsibility. Guys want something with power, while most girls want something "cute." We may look back on some of these cars and think, "Wow, that was a piece of junk." Each person that owns a car feels a certain pride about its dents, dings, and all. Take a look at whose "HANDS" are behind these wheels!

Do swimming and bowling have anything to do with school? For the 2004-05 school year, students who strived to make good grades and worked hard were rewarded. For those who made a level four or five on their MAP test, a swimming party was arranged. For students who received an academic letter from the previous year, a bowling excursion was in order. As students got a break from school, they got to relax and try their hands at something different. Swimming and bowling, or math and science? You decide if putting your mind to it and working hard is worth it!

How well do you think you know your school? Students are here one hundred and eighty days out of the year; yet, do they pay that much attention to all the small things around them? Do you know where all the exit signs are located, where each camera watches you from, or where familiar objects can be seen displayed all year round. Think you know your school pretty well? Take a look at these pictures of different inanimate objects and try to figure out just where they came from. See if you really pay attention or just wander around in an oblivious state of boredom and confusion. Valari Eby & Amanda Woodward

Starting off the football season with new head coach Mr. Townsend, the guys only had good things to say. Sophomore Drew Woodin stated with enthusiasm, "Coach Townsend is excellent!" Coach Townsend commented, "My major goal is to get better every week as a team. I hope by the last game we play, we have reached our potential as a football team."

Well, after the Indians lost a very close game to the Republic Tigers 20 to 21, things only got better for Seneca. They won the next three games against Mt. Vernon (34-6), Lamar (55-14), and McDonald County (35-7). The game against the Neosho Wildcats was also a close one. The score was 21 to 21 with 3.4 seconds left in the game when the Wildcats won the game by kicking a field goal. After this last second defeat, the Indians cut loose once again. Seneca played East Newton and blew them out of the water with a shutout game of 35-0. The Indians won the next two games against Carl Junction (21-19) and Aurora (30-27).

The game against Monett was the teams' chance to win the district crown, but the Indians lost a close, hard-fought game 12-22. Even though the chance for districts was gone, the Indians and the Seneca fans were hoping for a conference title.

The last game for the Indians was an awesome one. Seneca defeated Cassville 48-21. This gave the Indians the Big 8 Co-Conference title for the year. The Indians ended the season with a record of 7 and 3. Thanks, boys, for the great season!

Young team steps up big!

Big 8 Co-Conference Champs

With a new coach, eleven players, and no seniors, everyone doubted how well the softball team would do this year. All of the girls put in many hours of dedication and hard work to overcome their preseason drawbacks, and Lindsay Bellm, the only junior, also had to step up and become a major leader. Both were successful! The girls had an excellent season with a record of 20-8. Six of the players received Big 8 All-Conference honors: Lindsay Bellm, Megan Roark, Krystin Rakes, Kaci Beckham, Amber Zumwalt, and Jamin Landreth. Coach Lundien also received "Coach of the Year." Coach Lundien was proud of her team and stated that the only reason she received the award was because of the girls and how well they played. Hopefully all the players, and many more, will be back next year for another excellent season. Lindsay Bellm summed up the year and the effort: "We came together well as a team and were Co-Conference Champs."

"I have had fun through all the challenges the season presented!"

The 2004 season proved to be a challenging one for the Seneca Volleyball Team. Tough opponents filled the season with exciting competition. With the basic fundamentals and the importance of mental toughness being pressed on their minds, the girls were ready to fight. Striving to improve with each game, the team worked hard to combine their talent and ability. With a mixed team ranging from seniors to freshmen, a new perspective was put towards that goal. While on the court, the team was always sure to hear Coach Roberts' exclamations of "Make them pay!" after a free ball was sent over the net. Assistant Coach Butterfield was also there to say: "Don't ever give up. Never die!"

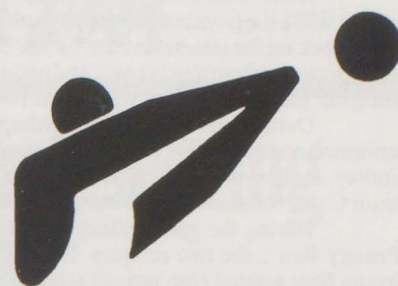

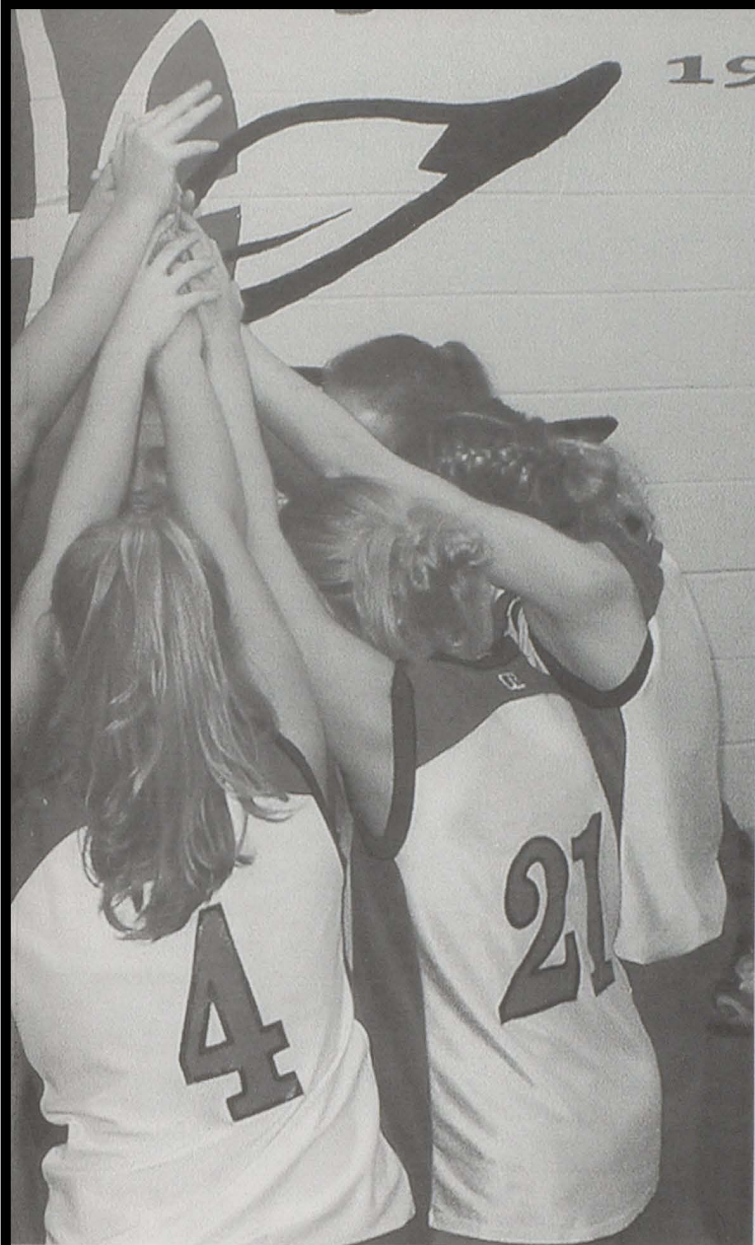

With the challenge of working together as a team and striving to obtain their goals, all the teams worked hard and always presented an interesting game to watch. Although the team lost many seniors this year, the prospects are looking up for next year and the years to come.

Roles were switched as the girls took the field for a game of touch-football while the boys commenced cheerleading and coaching. A total of sixteen seniors took on the underclassmen for the 2004 Powderpuff Game. Highlights of the game ranged from touchdowns and two-point conversions to a certain someone losing her pants. The game was tied at twenty going into halftime.

During intermission the Powderpuff cheerleaders and the Seneca Starz performed and the annual crowning took place. The candidates, freshman Wade Lindsey, sophomore Derek Ackerson, and junior Steven Chitwood, watched as senior Corey Stinnett took the crown as well as a long smooch from Keri Lynch.

During the game money was raised for project graduation from the "Penalty Box": the two referees, David Rawlins and Paul Divine, could put anyone they wanted (for various reasons) in the box, and a fee of two dollars could get each person out. The game was made a little interesting when the underclassmen's entire offensive team was put into the box, and later the seniors' defensive players were also penalized.

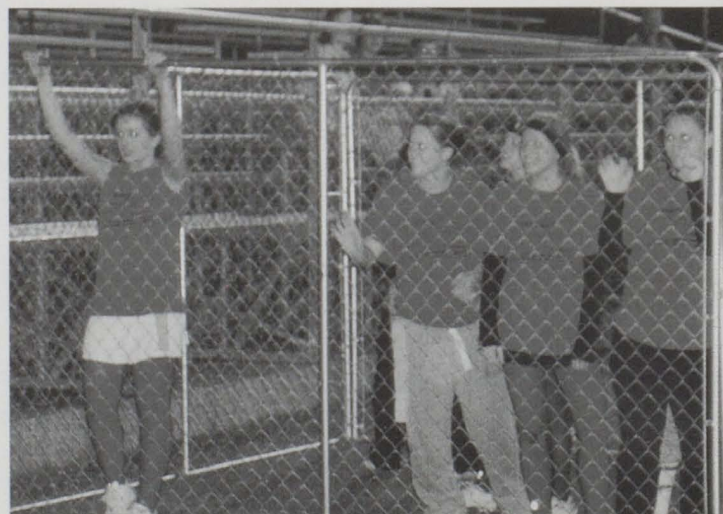

Despite the confusion of roles, little to no practice, and a few questionable calls, the game was a big hit. The senior girls took the win 30 to 20.

Mr. Volleyball 2004

Sparlin Crowned King

The crowd gathered for the 2004/05 Mr. Volleyball crowning as the candidates anxiously waited to be escorted across the floor. With the candidates consisting of freshman Matt Wilkes, sophomore Kyle Grover, junior Jerry Sparlin, and senior Andy Bradford, the competition was sure to be a close one. Last year's Mr. Volleyball, Nathan Haase, appeared to take part in the whole process. With time winding down for the announcement to be made, the candidates nervously shifted from one foot to another as their escorts debated over who would do the crowning and who would do the kissing. When the tense moment arrived, everyone held their breath. As Jerry Sparlin's name was sounded over the microphone, the wait was finally over. While the crowd roared their congratulations, Meghan Mayberry crowned him with a quick kiss on the cheek as Megan Hirsch presented him with a gift. After the crowning, the "King" and other candidates took their positions in the bleachers to watch the game--sporting new red volleyball shirts and numerous small gifts.

"Your game is always in progress!"

"FORE" score and four years ago, girls' golf was just an idea. Now, it is a reality! All four years the team has placed in districts, and there have been several girls qualify for the state tournament. This year the team started out shaky, but the girls quickly reached their potential: the team record for 18 holes was smashed with an awesome score of 372. Mandy Elliot, Amber Lawson, and Jessica Baker really stepped up this year and contributed to the success of the team. Without these girls, and the fun-filled personalities of Caitlin Scheurich and Morgan Chenoweth, the atmosphere of this golf season wouldn't have been the same. Raine Lounis, the most consistent star player and backbone of the team, ended the year with a bang, ranking 58th in the state of Missouri. Amber Lawson and Chelsey Hall also went to state--let's just say they showed up. From practices, matches, announcement of names before tee off, hotels, and bus rides (maybe 30 minutes in the wrong direction :)) the golf season was full of surprises. The girls summed up their season by quoting Gerald Ford: "I know I'm getting better at golf because I'm hitting fewer spectators."

"You can take them." "Dig, dig, dig!" "Stretch out your legs and take longer strides." Those are just a few of the phrases you would hear at a cross country meet from coaches, other runners, and fans. Running cross country takes a lot more effort than what some people would ever dream of putting out. Running three miles in 20 minutes doesn't seem to be possible, right? Wrong!! For the seven Seneca Cross Country members this year, it was a daily task in practice and at meets. Cross country involves a lot of stamina and endurance.

The members of the Seneca Wrestling Team came into the 2005 season with their spirits and expectations set high. Taking down their opponents one by one, dual by dual, and tournament by tournament, the wrestlers slowly built the confidence they would need for the grueling season. Working hard to maintain weight, pinning their opponents, and staying focused on the long road that could take them to state, the boys worked hard 100% of the time. And after several successes and a few hard losses, a full bus was taken to Columbia, Missouri, for the chance to prove that Seneca boys sure know how to "wrestle"! Each individual team member was striving for a different goal, all hoping to do their best. Joe Yust, junior, was looking for his second state title, while senior Kolby Lankford was trying to bounce back from last year and claim the title that he deserved. Both succeeded in capturing first place, while freshman Nathan Enyart gave a great fight and brought in second. When asked about his personal thoughts on his season, Joe Yust said: "I did what I wanted to do: I went undefeated and won state!" Coach Jeff Sill was also proud of his wrestlers saying, "They never underachieved, and we pulled together great as a team." Coach is also looking forward to next year hoping that the team will advance from their fourth-place team finish at state and bring in the gold.

Seneca Boys' Basketball

Coach King Takes Over

The boys' basketball season went very well in 2005 and with some really good underclassmen starters, Erin Whitekiller and Zach Harris, the future looks bright for Seneca roundball. Andy Blair (Air Blair), Daven Divine (D-vine), Isaac Roelfsema (Big Ike), and Josh Hembree (Hemi), provided great senior leadership throughout the entire season. One of the many highlights of the year was when the Indians played Carl Junction, the top team at districts, and defeated the Bulldogs in overtime 64 to 60. The boys, then, played Webb City for the district title, but they couldn't pull enough energy to beat the Cardinals in the end. The Indians, under new head coach Will King, placed second at Districts and finished the season with a 17-10 record. Senior Josh Hembree had this to say about the new coach, "Getting to play for Coach King was the best thing about the season. He's a very smart guy, and he makes the game fun." The Seneca fans were behind the team 100 percent the whole season and many said that the game against CJ was the best and most exciting game they had ever seen. Thanks to all the fans for all their support and the boys' basketball team for giving Seneca High School such a great season!

"I thought we had a good season. We fought through all of the adversity and came together as a team."

Even though the Lady Indians had a record of 10-15, the sub 500 season didn't show the love and heart the girls had. "We as a team persevered through some tough times and will be stronger in the future," said Coach Killingsworth. The girls showed their love for basketball by not giving up even when the season turned into a rollercoaster that continuously went up and down. Easily the lowest part of the season occurred on January 8th when the team lost one of its two all-conference players, Tashina Mailes. Tashina had this advice for all athletes: "Play every game like it's the last....you never know, you just might tear your ACL!!" After the big setback, freshman Tia Cook jumped from JV to starting varsity. Miss Cook had this to say: "It was an honor and they were big shoes to fill, but I knew I had to step it up and take some pressure off of our other all-conference player Meghan Mayberry."

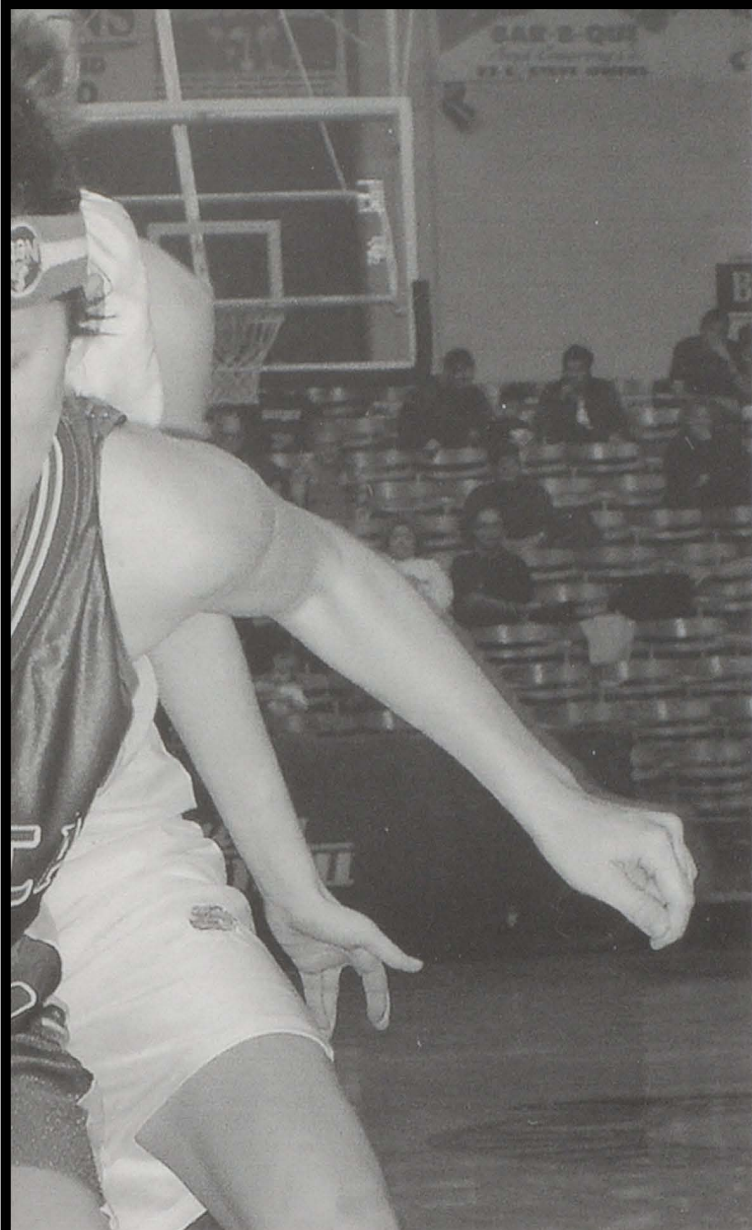

The Lady Indians are losing five seniors this year and like always, it was really hard for the ladies playing their last game together. Mandy Elliott stated: "With it being my last season of basketball, it was extremely sad and I couldn't have asked for a better team to end it with." This season was not as long as what the girls would have liked, but they all had their own part on this team. With several underclassmen receiving some valuable playing time this year, there is reason to be optimistic about the future of Lady Indians' Basketball.

"Our Sport is Your Sport's Punishment"

Grueling Practices Pay Off

Track--our sport is your sport's punishment, and that is no lie! The 2005 track season was full of "punishable" practices that brutally prepared the team for the upcoming season. Many times throughout these torturous "runs", every member of the team had the exact same thing running through his/her mind: "Why am I doing this?!" But in the end, those horrible practices paid off. The season was filled with wins, broken records, and lots of personal achievement. Seven school records were broken, and individual records were set for every member of the team. "Track was a lot of hard work this year, but when it started to wind down, everyone realized how much it had paid off," commented long-jump-record-breaker Meghan Mayberry. And it certainly did pay off when the whole team participated in the district meet, and three members went on to sectionals. Congrats on making another season "run" smoothly.

Golf, what a relaxing yet complicated sport. Not everyone has the skill to go out on a well-mowed lawn and hit a golf ball around with a stick. It takes lots of hours and hard work to play like "the toughest mind in the game" Tiger Woods. With the "hands" of the Seneca Indians Boys Golf Team anything is possible. No one knew what these fine gentlemen were capable of at the beginning of the season, until eye-catching scores showed up in the newspaper. Come to find out our boys had some potential to qualify for the Show-Me-State of Missouri. Long tiring practices consisting of driving balls, chipping, and putting could only help prepare them for the matches to come. "Golf is a game where you yell "fore"...shoot six...and write down five," said Paul Harvey. (Brian, maybe that's why you got disqualified at Monett, just kidding!) In the end, the dedication played off. The stylish Drew Woodin and the power hitter Bryce Crawford both qualified for State and are ready to represent!

Youngsters "Field" the Challenge

Indians "Hand In" a Winning Season

Baseball was a big "HIT" this year. Despite only having three seniors, Daven Divine, Josh Hembree, and Tim Stansberry, the team turned in a very successful season and provided plenty of excitement to baseball fans in the area.

Most of the players agreed that one of the more exciting games of the year was against the MacDonald County Mustangs. The team expected a very tough game but ended up crushing their rivals 13-3. With so many underclassmen seeing significant playing time, the Indians were not expected to do well in the conference. However, the team finished the season with an overall record of 14-8 and a conference record of 5-2. Daven, Josh, and Tim provided lots of quality senior leadership and helped out their younger teammates in any way they could. The team also credited their outstanding coaches, Mike Yust, Chris Yust, and Jeff Sill, for the success they experienced this spring. With so much young talent, the future looks very bright in the "hands" of the baseball Indians.

Thanks to all the people in the stands, the baseball boys, and the coaches for giving Seneca such a great baseball season! See you in 2006.

SURVEY OF HANDS

What is the # 1 way you use your hands during school?

- 1) Copying someone else's homework that you "neglected" to do.
- 2) Writing a text message with your cell phone (that you don't have in school of course).
- 3) Writing a note to one of your friends.
- 4) Fixing your hair.

Motto: Yesterday is history,
Today will be a memory,
Tomorrow is a mystery,
It's all awaiting you and me.

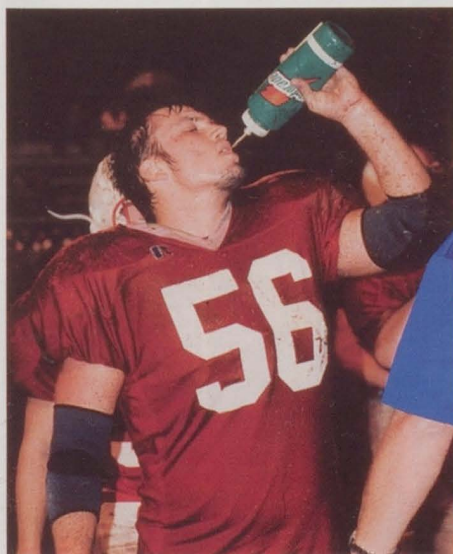

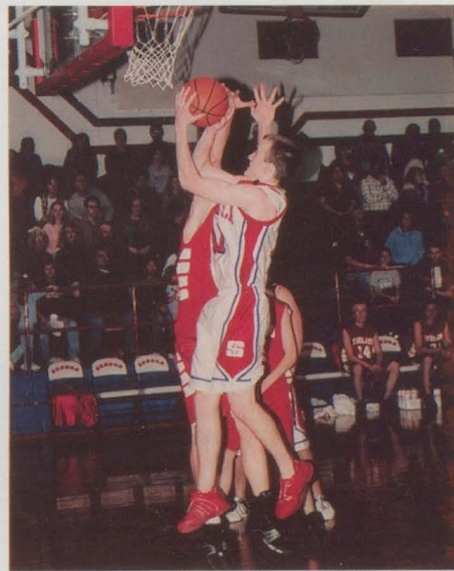

The class of 2005 has many stereotypes that make us unique and more individualized. Many things will be overlooked and forgotten; yet, other "things" will remain forever in our minds. Never forget the excitement of getting together to watch a big game, the feeling of being on stage, the adrenaline rush on the starting line, or just waiting in anticipation for the drummers to sound the beginning of our pep rallies.

Remember procrastinating on deadlines and stressing to get things done; but in the end, be joyful and keep the memories of what you accomplished. Senior memory books to murder case research papers are just a few assignments that kept us busy. When we started out as freshmen, we were rough and in need of polishing; but as we grew, our lives became like research papers: more formal and opinionated. We can look back at our years and see the rough edges and blanks, but now we are ready for the future and realize that the jagged areas will always be a part of who we are.

Even though we don't have the finished product, the conclusion of our papers and our lives are still waiting to be written. As graduation comes and goes, we finally realize that who we are today does not have to define who we will be tomorrow. Life after high school will present many more opportunities and plenty of chances to continue to grow. High school isn't the end to learning, but more like a rule book for the real world waiting for us.

Been here four years ready to get out, Leaving people behind, taking our separate routes.
College, Navy, work force too,
No matter what, there's something for you.
Leaving the past behind isn't always easy,
Remember moments that were stupid,
corny, & cheesy.
People & families cheering on graduation
day,
That comes for us in the middle of May.
As we open a new chapter, our friends may not be near,
But remembering our class of 2005 brings us cheer.

What is the worst thing about being a freshman?

1. Being the youngest again.
2. Getting picked on.
3. Having to carry football equipment.
4. Being a freshman.

"Freshman year has been a lot of fun.
We have a lot more to do.
It has been a good year."
—Chelsea Burleson

Freshmen in high school,
We're finally here.
Some ready to go,
Some timid with fear.

New teachers, more homework,
and so much to do,
We're the youngest again,
and everything's new.

Doing your homework,
Enough to get by.
Dating a senior
Because he can drive.

Christmas, then Easter,
And Spring Break too,
Then finally comes summer
And freshman year's through

The school year starts, and it's your first year in the big kids' school. At first it seems scary because you don't know your way around, the seniors look mean, and you get a ton of homework. Yet, after a while you realize that you have more freedom and more responsibility than you had in middle school--not too shabby. School starts going by so fast; it's almost like time's passing you by. About halfway through the year, you realize it's not that hard to find your way around a three-hall school, and the seniors don't pick on you as much as they threaten to. Even though the year gets better, you are still a freshman. Summer never seemed to look so good: when you get to shed your title and become sophomores and have the upperhand (at least over the upcoming freshmen).

Try looking at "things" from a new PERSPECTIVE
 --you might be surprised at what you learn.

School has started up again,
 Classes, homework, never end.
 Get up early, work all day,
 Long for summer, the month of May.
 Science, math, and English too,
 So many things we have to do.
 Government, cultures, world history,
 Places to learn, places to see.
 Sports, clubs, and dances too,
 So many things, so much to do.
 School years start to wind on down,
 Who gets most spirit, who gets class clown?
 No more homework left to do,
 Summer comes, there's no more school.
 But summer's short, as August begins,
 Everyone prepares for school starts again.

Math

Math has numbers, lines, and decimal dots, adding, subtracting, and the other what nots.
2+2 is always 4,
and sine and cosine leave you running for the door.
A calculator is great when they let you use it, but the privilege is gone if you try to "abuse it".
You learn some equations that mean nothing to you,
"I'll never use this", but they say that's not true.
Wherever you go, math is always the same;
if you do not know it, you're the one to blame.
--Jordan Wallace and Teri Lankford

"Math is great; it's the same in every country."-- Megan Hirsch
"Trigonometry—it is as long and complicated as the name!"--Tara Decker

Is there anything

"My wife and I once traveled two

If you could teach something that wouldn't normally be taught,
what would it be?

"Basket weaving."--Mrs. Snider

Why do you enjoy teaching math?

"I really enjoy math; it's what I liked in school, kind of boring.

Oh well."--Mr. Burns

Math is like buying a pair of jeans: you have to get them just right or they don't work at all.

"I like working with the ball bearing and roller coaster things."—Maddie Johnson

"I know all the parts of the skull thanks to Mrs. Sample and her awesome teaching techniques."—Erin Hunter

"Stuff" you probably don't know about your teachers:

Sample: Survived a plane crash, and she sees ghosts.

Lundien: Played on USA softball team for the Canadian Cup.

Day: Once bumped into Elvis in a hallway.

Chris Yust: He was All-State in football.

Science

Taking science is like discovering the turns of a roller coaster:
you never know what's ahead.

Dissecting many cats, memorizing elements,
Hypothesizing and conducting experiments.
Chemicals, equipment, goggles, and much more,

Solids, gases, and liquids that you pour.
Brains, bones, and tissues, cells and muscles too,

Hard for all the students who haven't got a clue.

Research projects, soil, water, air,
When using Bunson burners, watch out for your hair.

Reviewing for tests by playing a game,
No two classes are the same.

Valari & Amanda

Jumping jacks and pushups, exercise
to do,
Playing dodge ball and soccer and other fun games too.
Learning to be healthy, all the right
stuff to eat,
Learn how much to exercise during the whole week.
Learning how to save someone by perfecting CPR,
Taking tests and quizzes over all the games there are.
With running the mile, testing your heart rate,
P.E. and Health are sure to be great!

It's just so fun, it's just so grand!
Making music is swell, that is true.

You spend your summer at the fabulous band camp,
Getting used to a football field,
whether it's dry or damp!
A bunch of geeks! Are ya kidding, no we're not because in our stylin' outfits, we're so darn hot!

Communication Arts

Communication Arts is fun, with stuff to do for everyone.
Typing papers, studying plays,
Reading books, perfecting essays.
Many authors, poets too,
So much to learn, so much to do.
Projects, speeches, novels galore,
Learn iambic pentameter and so much more.

Fairy tales, biographies, and all that's in between,
And learn to say "I saw" instead of
"Hey, I seen."

"Mr. Davis teaches "muy bien" (very good)."—Derek Bunch

Something you didn't know about Mr. Davis:
He once got expelled from school for skipping a field trip to the zoo.

Spanish

Learning Spanish is like learning to walk:
you have to learn in "steps."

Hola chicas y chicos,
This is how our poem goes.
It starts with hello and will end with goodbye,
Spanish is fun; it is no lie.
Señor Davis will tell you so,
Grab your sombrero and off we go.
To a place of foreign speech,
Learning this language is fun to reach.
Now it is time to say goodbye,
So adios amigos, it's time to fly.

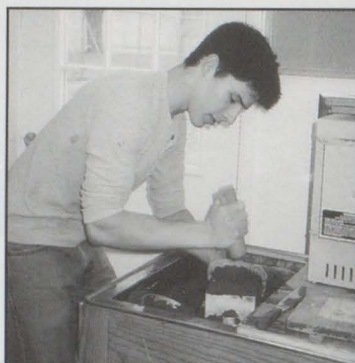

The Three Amigas

Family and Consumer Science,
Learn to cook or use an appliance.
It will help immensely in life,
If you're a husband or a wife.
Learn to cook or sew your clothes,
Clean dirty dishes or wash windows.
Ms. Hill's class is the place to go,
Whatever you need, surely she'll know.

Learn the dangers of pre-martial sex,
Having children is quite complex.
FACS is the class that will teach you the "how",
The necessities of life, learn them here and now.

Jordan & Teri

FACS

"Taking FACS is a

Social Science is what we've been taught,
Of how the wars started and where they were fought.

From north to south and east to west,
We learn about countries we know best.
What amendments we want to pass,
We debate about in our class.

Learning of brave fighters in the war,
Makes America "one" and much more.
Teaching, not of future, but of the past,
Is what makes social science such a blast!

Acting and memorizing words for a

Singing, dancing, and rehearsing all

Speech is like riding a bike: once you learn you never forget.

"I'm really not special, but I have a wife and kids--that could be a surprise!"
--Mr. Taylor

"Debate is an interactive activity in which students are encouraged to enhance their knowledge of current events and become their own person."
--Levi Butts

Speech and Debate is an organized argue, Proving your point before another outsmarts you.
 Learning to speak in front of a crowd, The volume must be perfect, not too soft or too loud.
 Tournaments are fun and very time consuming,
 You must be devoted with the energy level booming.
 Affirmative or negative, you must be prepared,

 Talking is primitive, learn the skills here,
 And as for the teacher, well he's nothing to fear.

"I was a treasurer
in a sorority."
--Mrs. Grant

Running errands, running copies, filing and sorting too,
If you're an office assistant, those are a few of the things you do.
Grading papers, hanging posters, having tons
of fun,
Being a teacher's assistant, there's always stuff to be done.
Walking to the elementary, helping kids to learn,
Great respect and admiration all cadet teachers earn.
Making grades get better, extra help on work,
Being in Mrs. Grant's study skills class is always a perk.

Colophon

What is THAT you might ask?

For those of you ambitious enough to inquire and to those who will actually read these words, I provide an answer: the "COLOPHON" is where the yearbook advisor (moi) gives credit where credit is due. People are thanked and important information (at least in regards to the weighty "tomb" you currently hold in your hands) is provided for perusal.

Well, I should probably just get around to the job at hand. Thanks, always, to Mrs. Dianne Miller for taking the time out of her very hectic schedule to proof and edit these 144 delightful pages. I am so appreciative of your aid, Dianne, that I might consider giving you your old room back--nah! My sincerest high regards to the administration and powers that be for trusting me and letting me do my job. Oh, Bonnie & Tracey, my fine bonny lassies, thanks for helping me stay organized and for keeping me (for the most part) pointed in the right direction. The highest praise I can bestow is to say this: I could not handle the chaos of the SHS office. You are to be commended by many. I especially want to thank Bonnie for letting me have the opportunity to reprint the list of yearbooks purchased NUMEROUS times. JB, Lisa, and Sherri, I personally thank you (for my staff and the students of SHS) for your time and outstanding photography skills. And, I guess, I should give a little credit to my staff of seven wonderful girls/women. Seriously, thanks for being a wonderful staff. You have taught me a lot about the female psyche and more than I would ever care to know about prom dresses and everything that goes with the big night--hopefully, prom will come much, much earlier next year. And (never begin a sentence with a conjunction), to the many I have not the time or space to mention: quadruple thanks for your pics, your time, and your generous donations.

This book is cranked out by the outstanding people of Herrf Jones.

Oh, how the fashion trends go around Seneca High School. The fashion goes from punk rock clothing, to big, gaudy clothing and accessories. One of the new accessories that has gotten big this year is the rubber wristband. You walk around the halls and see them on, just about, everyone. There are the common polo shirts seen around and the new "holy" jeans that are just a great, laid-back style! There are, also, some under-dressed styles that are made by people who, usually, have early morning practices. The "Fashion Police" have gathered a few snap shots of just how many styles and trends can be seen in the halls of SHS!

Lesley Irvin & Amber Lawson

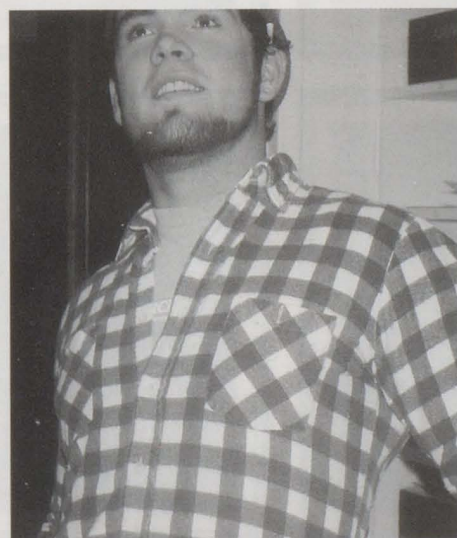

"The Fashion Police"

Below: Aubrey Donaldson and Shakira Rhodes show off their "punk rock" styles. Below Left: Shoes are a very essential part and can bring a whole outfit together! Bottom Right: Courtney Bay the "Denim Queen!". Bottom Left: Lucas (Sacul)...fashion?! Bottom Middle: Whose "holy" jeans are those?!

Left: Corbin Allen obviously isn't worried about impressing anyone with his awesome ensemble! Below: Aww...we can't criticize this fashionable girl...but Skylar Rawlins, on the other hand, could use a little help from the Bakenator! Below Middle: Meghan Mayberry sports the "get out of bed and go to school" look, and Katie Savage spices up her outfit with the new poncho style! Bottom: Matt Albritton...always dressed to impress the ladies! Derek Bunch shows off his "Paul Bunyan" flannel style!

Trendy Fashions of SHS!

Looking around you may notice some people who are very experienced with certain "things". Some people can go to the mall and shop 'til they drop, while others can skip class and talk on the cell phones without getting caught (like Tashina Mailes). Yes, some of these skills are a bit odd, but sooner or later they will pay off. Whether it be throwing an entire outfit together with "10 for 5 from Icing" (like Jennifer Greer & Jessica Baker), or never running out of ways to hit on a girl (like the "ladies man" Wade Lindsey), experience pays off.

"A Parent's Poem"

I loved you enough to ask you where you were going, with whom, and what time you would be home.

I loved you enough to be silent and let you discover that your new best friend was a creep.

I loved you enough to stand over you for two hours while you cleaned your room--a job that would have taken me 15 minutes.

I loved you enough to let you assume the responsibility for your actions when the penalties were so harsh they almost broke my heart.

But most of all, I loved you enough to say "no" when I knew you would hate me for it.

Those were the most difficult battles of them all. I'm glad I won them because in the end you won something too.

Congratulations to all of the young men & women, now all grown up.

"With These Hands"

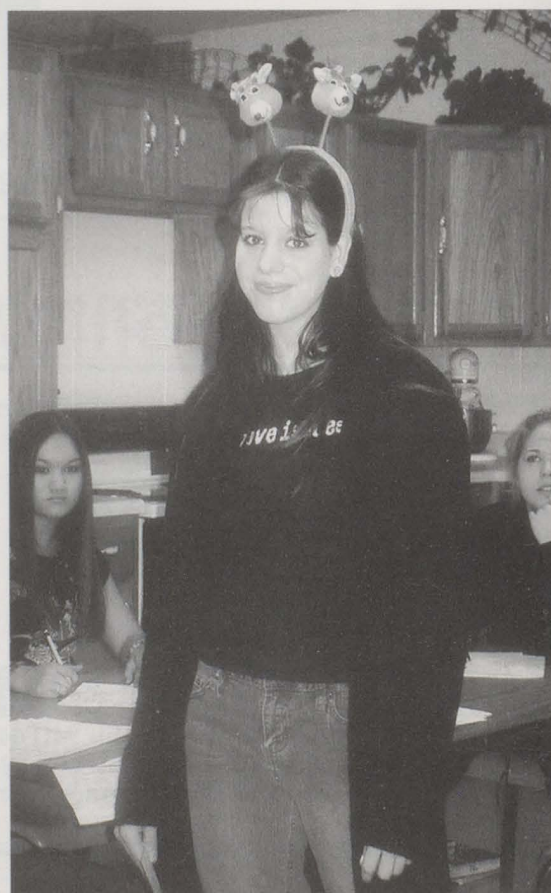

As the year ends and our futures begin, we take these memories and our experiences with us forever. I thank everyone for a wonderful year, and I'm looking forward to my senior year. Gracias Seniors of 2005.

--Teri Lankford

Well, we made it! Another year over. Hard to imagine that pretty soon we'll be on our own, but when I do think about it...I can hardly wait! So to the seniors, good luck, and everybody else, well, just hang in there.

--Jordan Wallace

CLOSING

You faced a challenge of a new grade and braved your way through it. School work got hard; you worked your way past it. Things got tough; you stuck with it. When the school year's done and next year comes, you will brave it, you will stick with it, you will work hard, and you won't give up.

--Valari Eby

The end of the year is finally here! The seniors get to go out and start living their lives as adults, and the underclassmen have the summer to hang out, have fun, and come back to school next year! Tradition, pride, and class is still the motto we live by and will remain living by in the years to come. Seneca High School was filled with many exciting memories in the years 2004 and 2005!

--Amber Lawson

"Carpe diem!" Sweet goodbyes to all my fellow classmates. Live long and prosper. :)

--Chelsey Hall

Time is but an essence, so take advantage of every positive opportunity that comes your way because you never know if another will come. Be yourself and smile; you never know when you could brighten someone's day! In the wise words of a very insightful man (Coach Hodge), "Have a great life!"

High school is coming to an end for the seniors; they are taking another step in their life. The juniors, sophomores, and freshmen will be here, but they will have exciting and new challenges along the way. Have fun and don't get in too much trouble. Good luck seniors!

--Amanda Woodward

I cannot hear your laughter
 I cannot see your smile
 I wish that we could talk again if only for awhile
 I know you're watching over me
 Seeing everything I do
 And though you'll always be with me
 I will always be missing
 you
 You taught me that life is much too short
 And at anytime could end
 But know that no matter where you are
 You'll always be my friend
 And when it's time for me to go
 You'll be there to show me
 the way
 I wish that you could still be here
 But I'll see you again
 someday.
