Moving In...

Pages 4-27
People

The tink of the hammers, the scream of the saw, and construction workers roaming the grounds became common sights and sounds during last school year. The first day of the 2010-2011 school year presented confusion & chaos for not only the new incoming freshmen, but also for the upperclassmen and seniors. However, as we now move into our new additions, the inconveniences seem worth all of the noise and trouble.

Just like the community and R-7 School District moved into a new intermediate school and a new, huge gym, students move on to bigger and better achievements. Freshmen, though on the bottom of the totem pole, have finally reached the exhilarating fear of being a high schooler. Sophomores move on from being "little freshmen" to their Sweet 16 and driving. Juniors move on from being carefree to holding down jobs at night and on the weekends. Finally, seniors move on to being the "top dogs" and making decisions that will affect their immediate future.

This year is full of new students moving in, and seniors preparing to move on. However, they are all here to learn and get the full high school experience: chilly Friday night football games, heated and intense basketball rivalries, tearful graduating moments, and everything in between.

Hicks, athletes, brainiacs galore,
This grade has them all and more.
Beating the seniors our main goal,
Claiming the points we rightfully stole.
Our spirit is off the chain,
We're not just Plain Janes.
High school is our scene,
We are the class of 2013.

--- The Class of 2011 ---

From elementary to middle school and, finally, to high school, MOVING IN to new buildings brings new responsibilities, new grade levels, and often, new faces. Now, as seniors, we MOVE ON with new lives. Some of us will move out and go to college; others will stick around to continue life in Seneca. Not only do we look back on the joyous memories that our school years have brought us all, but we also look forward to the next big step in our lives. No matter where that next step may take us, we will always remember the people, places, and moments along the way that made us who we are today.

Inside Jokes From This Year

Mrs. Durbin:

"It wouldn't be a joke if I told you!"

Mrs. Myers:

"It's an inside joke! Why would I tell the entire school?"

What is your favorite memory from this year?

Ms. Bottles:

"Ed Perez running in the middle of the aisle while we were singing and joining in with the choir. He was late."

*By day, a teacher,
by night...*

Ms. Bottles: She is Elaina's
mommy!

CHOIR

Mrs. Myers: Star in a
Broadway show.

Mrs. Durbin: A professional tennis player.

Favorite Memories From This School Year

Mrs. Durbin: "Senior night at the last home football game. First of all having a son as a senior and then seeing all of the seniors dress up as characters from our show was great."

Mrs. Myers: "I guess one of my favorite memories is just watching the kids work on the field. They try so hard, and they really do want to do a good job. I'm very proud."

Mrs. Herbert – FACS

1. What is one inside joke you have with one of your classes or a student?
"Ladies... and Trevor."
2. What is one of the best or worst class moments that you have had this school year?
"STUCO left an oven messy after fixing pizza in class for a dance; and when my FOODS class turned on the oven, the cheese goo burned and filled the building with smoke... wasn't us!"
3. If you could be a teacher by day and hold another job at night, what would that job be?
"A tour guide and travel the world for free (or just be independently wealthy)."

FACS

Wood shop is really great.

You'll never want to be late!

For there's no better way to spend your time,
Than making projects with balsa and pine.

Inside Jokes from this Year

Mrs. Schulte: "5th Hour...Enough said!"

Mr. Rushing: "Bike Champ."

What are your favorite memories from this year?

Mrs. Schulte: "Drake Adam's theory of no parallel lines."

Mr. Rushing: "I thought O'livia Harris was doing a 'trust-fall' but she really passed out from giving blood."

Mr. Townsend: "Kelsey Bresee asked me if she could break my leg!"

SCIENCE

What is one inside joke you have with one of your classes or a student?

Mr. Yust: "Inside jokes are private."

Mr. Howard: "This is school... we work, we do not joke!"

Mr. Coffey: "You are dismissed... (long pause, as always a few students get up to leave) WHEN the bell rings."

If you could be a teacher by day and hold another job at night, what would it be?

Mr. Yust: "Masked Crusader."

Mr. Howard: "I would be an ER doctor!"

Mr. Coffey: "I would like to try my hand at providing color commentary for sporting events broadcast on the radio and/or television."

Mr. Day: "I would be a writer for South Park."

What is one of the best or worst moments that you have had this school year in one of your classes?

Mr. Yust: "Coach Sill had everyone in AP convinced that I watched Jersey Shore."

Mr. Howard: "Three students brought suitcases of $1,000,000 in unmarked bills in exchange for an 'A' grade."

Mr. Coffey: "One of the best moments in school this year was celebrating first quarter birthdays with my Tribe Time students. One of the worst moments was when a student passed out and was injured."

Mr. Day: "The surprise birthday party that one of my classes threw for me was the best moment."

HEALTH

Miss Sigars (Health)

What is one of your most prized possessions?

"My students."

Night job?

"I'd be a tattoo artist."

Mr. Hilburn (P. E.)

What is one inside joke you have with one of your classes or a student?

"I guess I must say 'gosh dang' a lot."

What is one of the best or worst moments that you have had this school year in one of your classes?

"A student disagreed with my choice of punishment, so he decided to call me several choice words."

If you could be a teacher by day and hold another job at night, what would that job be?

"Stay-at-home dad."

Mr. Eidson (P.E.)

What is one inside joke you have with one of your classes or a student?

"I don't joke. I'm all work!"

What is one of the best or worst moments that you have had this school year in one of your classes?

"Locking two girls in the locker room all hour."

If you could be a teacher by day and hold another job at night, what would that job be?

"Mall Cop with Paul Blart or a drummer for a rock band."

PHYS ED

Mr. Whitehead (P. E.)

What is one inside joke you have with one of your classes or a student?

"Always tell Hank that he's my favorite when Hannah's not around, and telling Hannah that she's my favorite when Hank is not around."

What is one of the best or worst moments that you have had this school year in one of your classes?

"Seeing my students' appreciation for the new gym facility."

If you could be a teacher by day and hold another job at night, what would that job be?

"Tele-evangelist."

In communication arts, there's a lot to do:
Reading, writing, and poetry, too!
After studying writers like Poe and Shakespeare,
There will be nothing else for you to fear.

Favorite Memories

Mr. Eidson: "Locking two girls in the locker room for the whole hour--second hour."

Mrs. Butterfield: "The Veteran's Day Assembly. It was awesome in the new gym. The Heritage Club members did a great job, and we were honored to have four WWII veterans present."

SOCIAL STUDIES

Inside Jokes

Mr. Eidson: "Discussing political party symbols with my 6th hour class."

Mrs. Butterfield: "I don't really have an inside joke, but the 'Farmer's Daughter' did join my world history class... A.K.A Dusty Hodges."

Mr. Elbert

What is one inside joke you have with one of your classes or a student?

"My first year, I had to ask Tiffany Oxford how to do everything in Photoshop and Fireworks."

What is one of the best or worst moments that you have had this school year in one of your classes?

"Worst moment is when I found out that I have Brittany Spurgeon for three classes and Advisory."

If you could be a teacher by day and hold another job at night, what would it be?

"I would be Judge Judy's bailiff. Looks easy."

COMPUTERS

By day they teach social studies, by night...

Mr. Eidson: becomes a mall cop that works with Paul Blart!

Mrs. Butterfield: child psychologist

Mr. Plake: is a cough drop junkie

"Fight until the end," is what the Indians did. Coach Elbert agreed: "They never got discouraged." Despite losing both the Conference and District titles to the powerful Cassville Wildcats, the team took their never-say-die attitude to the playoffs and finished with a very successful 8-3 season.

The coaches spoke highly of their players this year, upperclassmen as well as underclassmen. Head Coach Rob Townsend said about his seniors, "The impact that the seniors have had on this football program will continue on for years to come because they have demonstrated TPC to the highest of their ability." Coach Hilburn was proud of the underclassmen. When asked what the underclassmen learned this year and how it will affect the future, he replied, "They learned how to approach games and practices the right way. Hopefully, they carry on the tradition."

The players were proud of their team and individual accomplishments. Jacoby Hymer said his biggest achievement was, "Getting 1st team All Conference on both sides of the ball." Jake Rhoades felt that his biggest moment was, "Finding out I was offensive player of the year in the Big 8."

"Overall the main goal of the season was to work hard, have fun, and live up to TPC."--Coach Pendergraft. The team succeeded at all these tasks.--Alex Holcomb

Homecoming--a time to show that not only do you go to school here, but you are proud of it. 2010's Football Homecoming started things off with spirit week: a time to show your pride and enthusiasm for the Indians. And what better way to show school spirit than coming to school in your pajamas, like the students did on Monday. Tuesday students got unoriginal as they participated in multiplicity day. Wednesday everyone embraced their alter ego for super hero day, and Thursday students got a little brighter for neon day. Homecoming Day was last; it was a time to get your red on.

The game started off great by announcing the homecoming queen: Miss Marissa Griffin. The night was complete when Seneca beat the East Newton Patriots 56 to 6.

-- Lani Blagg and Haley Simpson

Jiana Brownen

What was your favorite thing about homecoming?
"Meeting and hanging out with the other attendees & candidates."

Deatrice Fernandez

What was the most unique part of the experience?
"Having the experience to be part of homecoming."

Kendra Thomure

What was the hardest part of getting ready?
"Probably my hair because it took so long, and I ended up being late for the coronation."

The Seneca Softball Girls didn't waste time as they began vigorous practices before school even started. They knew that they had a challenging season ahead of them, and their hard work and determination never ended. There was hope as the season started with wins against Diamond, Miller, Welch, and Fairland. Tougher games followed, and the girls were stuck on a losing streak. They finally pulled out a win against El Dorado Springs with a score of 11-3. The Joplin Tournament gave them hope as Seneca once again defeated Diamond in the first round. They went no further, however, losing their first District game to Aurora with a score of 3-0. When asked what made this season stand out from the rest, Coach Sill replied, "One thing that was different was that we were a young team, and at the end of the season we had a losing record (6-18). Our record doesn't define our team, though. The girls grew as a team and battled each game."

What a spectacular year it has been for us girls. With a first place at Regionals and a second place at State, cheerleading has been a time of great experience.

This year the squad had many changes; one major change was that seven freshmen joined the team. Most of them were previous cheerleaders, but they all didn't know the challenge it was to be a high school cheerleader. Taylor Carter observed, "Learning to work together with a bigger group and having way harder practices was a big challenge for me."

The freshmen were not the only girls on the team that overcame obstacles: the seniors had to make changes from last year's mistakes.

We had to learn how to work together, show leadership, and do both with positive attitudes. With great effort, we accepted the challenge and made improvements. At the beginning of the year these difficulties seemed impossible to overcome, but the squad worked hard and accomplished much. It is easy to say that we gave it our all and made the best of it.

The Seneca Lady Indians Volleyball Team didn't win as many games as they had hoped. However, junior Bailey Smith noted a difference, "It was better compared to last year because we worked together and got along."

This season the Lady Indians played bigger schools and fought hard against all of them. With a lot of community support, the team shocked other coaches in the area with their competitiveness and set a high standard for the next few years. The team's season came to a close against the Carl Junction Bulldogs at the District Tournament. It was a tough and hard-fought game; but, in the end, things did not go the team's way.

Despite the loss, Coach Plake is optimistic about the future and is excited about: "This group of varsity girls coming through and excelling in all aspects of the game and making huge strides in District Competition."

As the bleachers were filling for this very memorable event, the candidates and their attendants were slipping on dresses and glossin' their lips for their BIG night. The attendants included freshman, Chance Smith; sophomore, Raymond Ferguson; and junior, Dalton Lindsey. Candidates were Chance Eads, Jacob Williams, and Wesley Storrs. When asked "How do you feel about high heels after tonight", Wes Storrs stated "Leave it to the ladies!" (WHATEVER THAT MEANS!) Chance Eads was asked "Where did you learn to walk like that?". He replied, "My mommy!" We asked Jake Williams "Will you ever wear a dress again?". "Most likely, because I look HOT!" In the end, Jake just didn't look hot enough: the winner was the lovely Wesley Storrs.

Aside from the excitement of the boys pretending to be girls, the ladies of SHS played an amazing and very entertaining game. There were a lot of penalties called and a lot of money raised as the seniors--once again--won. After their unbelievable victory, we asked some seniors what their most memorable moments were. Shelby Cox answered: "When Macki Coffey tried to kill me!" Brittany Spurgeon replied: "Making the first touchdown." The game was a fun night where the girls of Seneca showed everyone what they are capable of. We are excited to see the next bunch of SHS ladies hit the gridiron! --Caitlyn Jennings

Nerves ran high and spandex tight as the crowd, attendants, and anticipating candidates waited for the winner of the 2010 Mr. Volleyball. This year's candidates were Ross Howard, Jacoby Hymer and Eric Esposito. All three "gentlemen" had looked forward to this night since the new school year began. When asked before the magical moment if he would be nervous, Eric responded, "Yes! My legs will be shaking, and I may collapse." However, Jacoby was more confident: "No! I'm not nervous at all." Ross shared his perspective, "Most would be nervous about the kiss; but since my mom kisses me all the time, I'm not worried."

Eric Esposito was announced King, crowned and kissed by Taylor Parmley. He proudly modeled his crown and went to sit on his throne: the bleachers in the Pep Club section.

Sill, C. Skaggs.

The Seneca Indian Wrestlers started off the season knowing they would have to work hard after jumping from Class 1A to Class 2A. They were definitely up to the challenge. They proved their determination by placing first at both the Seneca and Carl Junction Tournaments, and finishing the season with a record of 10-2. They also placed first at Districts and sent nine wrestlers to State.

The State qualifiers: Cole Lankford, 103; Michael Olsen, 112; Logan Grady, 119; Colbey Skaggs, 125; Tim Harnar, 130; Trevor Sill, 140; Jalen Skaggs, 152; Josh Butler, 171; and Steven Adams, 285; had to face wrestlers from larger schools than the previous year. They each worked extremely hard and three placed: Colbey, 3rd; Jalen, 4th; and Tim, 5th. This was not exactly the results some were hoping for, but SHS and the community were still proud to call the boys "theirs".

Trent VanWagner, when asked what he would miss most about wrestling, reported, "I'll miss the morning breakfasts, spread eagle, Coach Sill freaking out during intense matches and--most of all--the Rocky song." Steve Adams, however, shared, "I will miss the ten minute jogs that turn into 25 minutes. I don't run; I jog."

Seniors will go on to graduate, bittersweetly, and underclassmen are already looking forward to bigger and better accomplishments next season. Cole Lankford said, "I'm looking forward to getting better as a team and doing better at State." Jacob Truelove commented, "I'm striving to be on varsity and going to State." All are wanting to be the best, and there are no doubts this goal will be reached.

The three nervous candidates, O'lyvia Harris, Piper Allen, and Emylee McAllister, anxiously awaited to hear their name called to be escorted out on to the floor by a senior wrestler. O'lyvia reported, "It took me like a week to get everything together and then an hour that day to get ready." Whereas Piper stated, "I already had my dress and everything." No matter how much preparation, each candidate was ready for this moment. Piper Allen was announced "Queen" and presented with her crown, flowers, and a not-so-traditional kiss from Tim Harnar who dramatically dipped her in front of the crowd.

Queen Piper, senior candidates, and their attendants, Molli Cooper, freshman; Ashley Wynn, sophomore; Jessica Stone, junior; were escorted off the mats and into their place of honor. The wrestlers ended the night perfectly with duel wins against Caney and Columbus.

A good basketball team is made up of a creative offense, a quick defense, consistent shooters, and fast-thinking players. The Seneca boys have all of these assets plus the will and determination to play their hardest each and every game. When the going gets rough, they dig deep and keep on playing. When asked what difficulties the team had to overcome this year, Eric Esposito replied, "After losing 5 starters and 6 seniors, we had to step up and fill the shoes of those before us." The season had a number of close games, and Seneca earned victories against Joplin, Lamar, Neosho, Galena, and others. With every win or loss, the Seneca Boys' Basketball Team made their fans proud by playing with dedication and heart. The season ended after losing to Mt. Vernon in Districts. The team's final record was 8-17. When Coach Hilburn was asked if the team's goals were met this year, he replied, "Our goal was to constantly improve throughout the year, and our seniors did a great job of making sure we achieved that." Great season, boys!

Spirit Week

Basketball Homecoming 2011 was held on January 14. After a week filled with students participating in spirit week with originality and creativity, the high school was full of excitement as Friday rolled around. The day started off with an early-morning pep rally which quickly had students fully awake and cheering. Everyone laughed as the blindfolded attendants and candidates searched the gym for their "crowns", and the other fun competitions and games left everyone pumped for the big night. All the anticipation left students restless, but it wasn't long before the new gymnasium was filled once again for the 6:00-o'clock coronation. The crowd was anxious as the girls made their way onto the gym floor. The attendants were freshman, Cheyenne Black; sophomore, Elyssa Esposito; and junior, Bailey Smith. There was silence for the announcement of the winner: would it be Charleigh Plumb, Haley Simpson, or Jordanne Wright? Applause filled the gymnasium as Charleigh Plumb was crowned Homecoming Queen of 2011. The varsity boys played a good, determined game but unfortunately suffered a loss to Carl Junction. Congratulations to this year's Queen and to the boys for their hard work.

The 2010-2011 season was a rough and tough one for the Seneca Girls' Basketball Team. Overcoming obstacles was something the girls had to do often: injuries, tough losses, and even losing a player on the varsity team. But the injuries healed, there were wins with the losses, and other players stepped up and came through. Despite all their hardships, the girls felt that it was overall a good season with many achievements. Molli Cooper said that her greatest accomplishment was, "Being able to play at the varsity level my freshman year and being able to play in tough positions."

The JV team "earned" their 8-9 season as did the varsity with their 10-15 record. Between both squads there were 19 players, 13 of which will hopefully be returning next season. Based on how well the underclassmen did this year, the seasons to come look very promising.

Under Coach Coffey's leadership the girls earned both team and individual success. The team won a great victory over Pierce City, but ended the season with a loss against Mt. Vernon in the second game of the district tournament. Jordanne Wright received Second Team Big 8 All-Conference and Class 3 District Honors. Jordanne said that what she would miss most was, "Playing, going to practices (I need to workout), and my teammates." Expectations remain high, and the squad will use this season's experiences to reach even higher goals in 2011-2012.

You can't catch them: they're the 2010 Seneca Cross Country Team! Through all the fields and hills, the runners race on. The team started out with only eight people; but by the end of the season, it came down to a single runner--Austin Jorgensen. When asked how it felt to be the only Seneca student that made it to State, he replied, "I would have liked it better if some of my teammates had gone, but it was okay. I enjoyed it." Austin eventually placed 20th.

The team this year worked hard and encouraged each other.

"Overall, the team attitude improved a lot from last season. What I noticed is every single runner from last year set personal records. We haven't had that kind of success in a few years." --Coach Wydick. Hopefully, even more Seneca runners will be fast enough to cross that finish line at State next year.

--Kaitlin Walker

From the pull of the first trigger to the final exhale at the last track meet, the 2011 SHS track season was one to remember. When the head coach, Mr. Rushing, was asked what his overall perspective on the season was, he responded by saying, "We were much improved from last year." His statement was quite accurate. Of the 28 track members, fourteen were honored with the selection of All Conference. Congratulations to E. Roelfsema, T. Foley, D. Noah, S. Pointer, A. Howard, B. Curtis, A. Jorgensen, S. Murphy, C. Gilstrap, P. Allen, K. Ackerson, C. Eads, D. Lindsey, and C. Neuhoﬀ. When asked what he will miss most about this season, senior track stud Austin Jorgensen gave a simple, yet heartfelt response, "Running alongside my teammates. I'll also miss all the competition." From hurdle to high jump, shot put to sprint, the SHS track team represented the school well.

Row 1--Piper Allen and Shane Murphy.
Row 2--Coach Wydick, Paden VanSickle, Austin Jorgensen, Jacob Tanner, Colton Neuhoﬀ, Greg VanGunda, and Chad Kraft.

What was the toughest part of track this year?
"The hill.... 'nuff said."

--Annie Howard

What do you think of the overall track season?
"I think this track season was a very positive one, but it was also very sad because this is Coach Rushing's last year."

--Blake Curtis

Did you accomplish all of your goals this season?
"I accomplished most of them. I'm excited about the possibility of making it to State."

--Thaddeus Foley

What was your greatest accomplishment this past golf season?

"I placed first at a JV tournament!"

--Trevor Sill (aka "Beta Pup")

2010 Girls' Golf: Deenice Fernandez, Tiana Brownen, Jordan Francis, Brynna Crawford, Coach King, Elyssa Esposito.

The Seneca golf girls started the season well with Esposito and Crawford placing second in a scramble at Nevada. Junior Brynna Crawford finished up the girls' golf 2010 season with an exciting trip to the state competition after placing 11th at Districts and 9th at Sectionals. When asked to comment about her thrilling state competition, Miss Crawford replied, "It was stressful."

Even when they were not winning or experiencing the stress of competition, the girls really enjoyed the season. "The van rides and tournaments were really fun." --Elyssa Esposito. First year golfer Tiana Brownen chipped in (get it?) with: "The van rides were always very interesting and fun." Taking a break from his van-driving duties, Coach King made this comment about the season, "I am very proud of our team and the season we had. For the most part I saw improvements all year and look forward to next season." --Alex Holcomb

Golf is often referred to as a leisurely game played on the weekend or in spare time. However, to the boys of the Seneca Golf Team, it is much more. It is a competitive activity, challenging both physically and mentally.

The 2011 golf team consisted of five varsity players: Bradley Jumper, Fr.; Blake Alford, Soph.; Jordan Brownen, Soph.; Trevor Sill, Jr.; and Steven Adams, Sr. Despite all of the hard work they knew they would face, each was excited to start the season. They placed well in all their matches and finished 5th out of 13 teams at the Cassville Tournament and 4th at Conference. Coach Ed could not have been more satisfied with these results and commented, "This season was a great one. We improved upon last year and are looking forward to doing even better next year."

Individually, Steven Adams competed at Conference and placed in the top 15 which allowed him to go onto Sectionals. There he placed in the top twelve which qualified him for the State Competition (a perfect ending to his senior year). When asked what he would miss most, Steven (the lone senior on the team) stated: "I will miss Coach Ed's bald, tan head."

Row 1: C. Jennings, C. Graham, M. Coffey, M. Olsen, C. Hall, J. Rhoades, E. Esposito, J. Stone, E. Bottles. Row 2: C. Yust, B. Coffey, J. Skaggs, C. Cornett, C. Jones, B. Roark, D. Schick, J. Mendoza, K. Copeland, J. Pendergraft, B. Graham. Row 3: S. Rawlins, M. Mailes, C. Webber, Z. Griffith, P. Rawlins, J. Lipe, T. Nimmo, J. Tanner, D. Merriman, M. Cooper, Z. Kelly.

The Seneca Baseball Team came into this year's season with a drive to win, starting the 2011 campaign with championships in the Cassville and Monett tournaments. The team also opened up with an 8-0 record--the total amount of games won last year. When the weather cooled down, so did the team with tough losses to Big 8 Conference foes Carl Junction and Lamar.

However, big victories were still earned. The highlight being a 12-3 victory over rival Cassville. Overall, the team finished the regular season with a 12-12 record. In the District Tournament, the boys lost a hard-fought game to Reeds Springs in the 1st round dropping to one game below 500% for the year. Despite this setback and the departure of seniors Eric Esposito, Michael Olsen, and Jacob Rhoades (aka Unicorn Boy), there are plenty of reasons for Coach Yust and the rest of Seneca to be optimistic about Seneca Baseball. Three freshmen (Dalan Merriman, Braxton Graham, and Payton Rawlins) started varsity all year long and will be bringing their considerable skills to the baseball fields of Missouri for three more years to come.

Congratulations, boys, on a fine season.

--Caitlyn Jennings

All in all, was it a successful year?
 "Yeah, the kids worked hard, improved, and we won four more games than last year!"

Prom: time to rent a limo, smile for a million pictures until your face hurts, eat an overpriced meal, wear tight and uncomfortable clothes, look classy and smokin' hot (and maybe a little tacky), and still have fun.

As this year's junior and senior prom started, it seemed very fitting that the theme was "Arabian Nights" because even Aladdin would have said that it was burning up in the gym.

Despite the Middle-Eastern temperature, many still kicked off their heels, threw off their jackets, and busted a dance move on the dance floor while others attempted to eat chicken wings in the dark from the comfort of their table.

Cody Hall and Charleigh Plumb were crowned King and Queen and were given a furry crown and a sparkly tiara to prove it. Once the night came to an end and everyone left covered in more sweat and glitter than a Ke$ha song, it was clear to see that Prom was not only a time to dress up and party, but a time to celebrate the end of a memorable year with friends.

Congratulations to all the "grown-up" kids of the Class of 2011.

I, Steven Brown, being of simple mind and simple body leave behind the following:
 Jo Gagnon, I leave you my dedication and well-being in sports.
 Jake Tanner, I leave you my strong will in Mustang faith.
 Lucky Eads, I leave you my awesome video-game skills.
 Cory Crain, I leave you my awesome quoting skills.
 Dalton Bridges, I leave you my happiness that I will graduate before you!

I, Piper Allen, being of dead mind and dead body leave behind the following:
 To Kyra England I leave my sense of humor and my witty ways to get out of trouble.
 To Mr. Page I leave my love for Borat and awesome ways to wake myself up.
 To Cheyenne Black I leave the phrases "silly moose" and "old people burning".
 To Mr. Day I leave my brown Hawaiian shirt that is his favorite.
 To Jordan Staley I leave my ability to sleep and eat REAL food.

I, Alyson Alexander, being of beautiful mind and white body leave behind the following:
 To Katie Brummett I leave my jail time and the best cake of my life :)
 Morgan Keeling, I leave my beautiful singing abilities and the right to be the BO$$!
 Brynna Crawford, I leave my gorgeous looks and awesome humor.
 Butch Ferguson, I leave you my baller skills and the smile that is always on my face.
 To Coach Hillburn I leave all my excuses and the right to mouth anybody.

I, Josh Means, being of intellectual mind and rockin' body leave behind the following:
 To Dusty Hodges I leave my awesome pearl-snap look.
 To Kyler Rushing I leave my mathematical skills and my baseball knowledge.
 To Cody Hillburn I leave my Royals dedication.

I, Josh Butler, being of sharp mind and complete body leave behind the following:
 To Jeffrey Butler I leave my legacy.
 To Jared Lipe I leave my good humor and hand skills.
 To Courtnee Standlee I leave my copy of The Zohan.
 To Hannah Kuhn I leave my steel-toe boots.
 To Dakota Schick I leave all my wrestling skills.

I, Marcus C., being of black mind and chocolate body leave behind the following:
 To Daniel Noah I leave all my dancing skills that can't be touched by no man.
 To Logan St. Clair I leave my skills of being a playa' 101.

 To Jacob Truelove I leave my amazing tackling abilities.
 To Zach Kelly simple as this (Real NINJA).
 To Cheyenne Black I leave my "Black" to you. Keep your head up and make the "Black" name proud.

I, Steven Adams, being of great mind and sound body leave behind the following:
 To Blake Alford I leave my awesome golf skills.
 To Trevor Sill I leave you my amazing artistic ability because, to be honest, there isn't much there.
 To Marty Mailes I leave you my great speed because you are slow.
 To Mrs. Hampton I leave you my access to my sports page that is "illegal" to look at at school.
 To Molli Cooper I leave you my rock-solid shins that can withstand kicks under the lunch table.

I, Charleigh Plumb, being of sound mind and beautiful body leave behind the following:
 To Crazy Annie (aka Annie Howard), my favorite underclassman, I leave you my undying love along with my position in leading the Pep Club :)
 To Kyra England I leave you with my Harry Potter knowledge. R.I.P. Dobby :(Hey now, Harry. I love hanging out with you, and I love tearing it up at Vibe with you!
 To B-Radley Jumper I leave you with the sense of knowing when two friends are with each other before you text them the exact message at the same exact time:
 "Hey, what's up?"
 To Emali Pickering I leave you my address that way you can send me a wedding invitation when you and Jacoby Hymer get married!

To my little brother, Dakota Plumb, I leave you my sisterly love. I know you'll miss me when I'm gone even if I did steal gum out of your locker everyday and even if I did embarrass you from time to time. I couldn't ask for a better little brother. Oh, and one last thing, I love you, BROTHER! <3

I, Jacob Williams, being intelligent-minded and sexy-bodied leave behind the following:
 To Dakota Sherman I give everything :).
 To Lucky Eads I leave my athleticism and strength, brother!
 To Dalton Lindsey I leave my perfect teeth.
 To Alex Holcomb I leave everything you wish you could have. :)
 To Marilen Zosso I give you my ability to be mean to anybody.

I, Johnathan Ryan Wynn, being of partially-sound mind and not-so-physically-fit body leave behind the following:
 My locker to Jacob Hall.
 My sharpie pens to Ms. Huffman.
 I leave my laughs to Sami Stokes.
 My awesome library skills to... well you could probably guess, Mrs. Hampton.
 Mr. Page, I leave my writings.

I, Tiffany Oxford, would gladly pass on the following:

To Shelby Jo Roark: Pretty much all of my belongings, including my car, clothes that got too small because of Felix and anything else you can find at the house. I'm also leaving you my stubbornness, my inability to deal with our mothers for too long, and my ability to cause trouble wherever I go (although you already have all these wonderful qualities).
 You are such a smart girl, so much smarter than I will ever be. Stay that way. Remember that you can make it anywhere in life as long as you never let people get in the way. I love you more than anything in the world, Sis, so ALWAYS know that I'm only a phone call away.

To Amber VanWagner: My catlike reflexes and wicked strength that enable me to beat up your brother. Stay tough, be smart, and don't be too much like Trent.

To Kelsey Skaggs: My unconditional love as a mother. You are a great mommy, and Kayson is one lucky girl to have you as her mommy! Good luck in school and in life. You deserve everything the world could possibly give you.
 To Emali Pickering: My five day a week, one-hour-a-day bonding time with your mom. Be jealous. She is a wonderful woman and you are a wonderful girl. I don't know what I would have done without you both this last year. I wish you and your family the best for years to come. Keep your faith strong and your heart loving.

To anyone in Coach Townsend's classes: My will power to survive! Just remember, the key to not getting your candy eaten by him so to be so stealthy that his aging eyes can't catch you eating at all. As big of a pain as he can be, he is one of the most influential teachers that will ever walk into your life. Appreciate his wittiness and you'll have an awesome year.

I, Trent VanWagner, being of creative mind and relaxing body leave behind the following:

I leave Eli Wohlenhaus in charge of the Green Bay Packers' fan club.

To Dalton Lindsey I leave my goofiness and my complete set of Daniel Tosh stand-up.

To Josh Griner I leave my intelligence and amazing ability to debate, so you too can know what it's like to be smart.

To my sister, Amber VanWagner, I leave my kindness, so people won't roam the halls being afraid of you.

To Brett Burr I leave my awesome impersonations, so you will have the ability to impersonate each and every teacher.

I, Eric Esposito, being of powerful mind and rockin' body leave behind the following:
 To Mr. Page I leave my South Park knowledge (Dey tuk er Jerbs!).
 To Emali Pickering I leave a friendly "hello" in the hallway (only because you told me to).
 To Elyssa Esposito I leave absolutely nothing!

I, Allen Frost, being of sharp mind and ripped body leave behind the following:
 To Alex Holcomb I leave my balance (so you don't keep tripping in the hall every day).
 To Dalton Lindsey I leave my tooth.
 To Annie Howard I leave my eyes (except the iris cause your's are way prettier!).
 To Emali Pickering I leave my spirit, may it haunt you forever.
 To Elaina Bottles I leave my cans.

I, Shelby Cox, being of incredible mind and sound body leave behind the following:
 To Annie Howard (aka "Crazy Annie") I leave my crazy loud vocals at football games.
 To Logan St. Clair I leave my locker-booster-making skills and my awesomeness.
 To Kyra England I leave my skills of getting ready quickly.
 To Coach Hillby I leave you my mad weight-lifting skills and the ability to role my eyes when you say "Go get a tardy!"
 To Mr. Townsend's 6th hour freshmen algebra class I leave my amazing algebra skills.

I, Carlee Ballard, being of eccentric mind and great body leave behind the following:
 To Lizzy Lame I leave my knowledge of music and my love of Hot Topic.
 To Shelby Madison I leave my extensive library of amazing books.
 To Reba Hernandez I leave my love for Adam Lambert and my many drawings.
 To Adam Troy I leave my obsession with all things in the video-game realm.
 To Desire Walls I leave my entire Anime collection and wicked sense of humor.

I, Denesa Boman, being of hopeful mind and calm body leave behind the following:
 To Deran Boman I leave my intellectual mind and responsibility in school.
 To Paden VanSickle I leave my awesome working and social skills in Braums.
 To Shelby Thompson I leave my mad weight-lifting skills.
 To Brianna Duncan I leave my amazing biology-classroom memories.
 To Eli Stubblefield I leave my crazy geometry and trig. memories.

I, Jenny Kraft, leave behind the following:
 My position as President of the Whiners Club to Mrs. Myers.
 All my artistic ability to Abbey Prince, she needs it.
 My sarcasm to Morgan Keeling.
 And to someone (anyone) some of John Conelly's sassiness. He has enough of it to go around! :)

I, Josh Chenoweth, being of incredible mind and studly body leave behind the following:
 To Molli Cooper I leave my rap music.
 To Dalton Linsey I leave my Web Page Design skills.
 To Dominique Yeakey I leave my speed so you travel the world.
 To Billy Cummings I leave you the good basketballs.

I, Sam Allen, being of creative mind and rockin' body leave behind the following:
 To Josh Griner I leave my insane acting skills and my brotherly love.
 To Shane McMurphy I leave my Spartan power.
 To Brianna "Sanchez" Duncan I leave Tarantino.
 To Brynna Crawford I leave my excess testosterone.
 To Kenzie Christensen I leave my ping-pong skills and love.

I, Courtney Scott, being of enlightened mind and beautiful body leave behind the following:
 To Josh Griner I leave the nickname "Bizkit".
 To Chelsea Corum I leave the perfected ability to be a "verbal bully".
 To Katie Brummett I leave the definition of "neutonic" and the pronunciation of "falafel".
 To Drake Adams I leave my artistic abilities and extensive knowledge of computers.
 To Mr. Page I leave the lasting memory of my laughter.

I, Lani Blagg, being of average mind and average body leave behind the following:
 To Josh Griner I leave my endless supply of useless pop culture facts. (May you find a use for them in Knowledge Bowl.)
 To Brianna (Sanchez) Duncan I leave my "violin". (Play it well.)
 To Kenzie Christensen I leave my mad krumpin' skills.
 To Abbey Prince I leave my pity.
 To Eli Stubblefield I leave my title as "The Whitest Kid in School".
 (I know you will honor it.)

I, Emylee McAlister, being of open mind and strong body leave behind the following:
 To Hannah Kuhn I leave behind my OU lanyard and amazing ability to memorize capitals.
 To Daniel Noah I leave behind a bag full of chocolate chip cookies.
 To Dakota Plumb I leave behind lots of love and my open mind.
 To Mrs. Roller I leave behind my amazing personality and my awesomeness.
 To Taylor Higginbotham I leave behind a bag of pretzels, not just any ordinary pretzels but honey-wheat pretzels.

I, Zach Rakes, being of a bold mind and a stable body leave behind the following:
 I shall leave behind my awesome woodworking skills to any underclassmen who is lucky enough to impress Mr. Yust with. Good luck!

I shall leave behind the smart-alec comments to Jordan Brownen just to make Mr. Yust mad.

I will leave behind my amazing golf moments and skills with Coach Ed, so he will never forget me.

Now I will leave behind my manly beard that Mr. Page wishes he had and video-game stories to never forget.

To Mrs. Butterfield I leave behind the fun times that we shared together the three years of class we had.

I, Casey Ewing, being of unstable mind and fragile body leave behind the following:
 To Emilee West I leave my reputation for terrifying underclassmen and being a general antagonist.

I, Zachary Scott, being of intellectual mind and sound body leave behind the following:
 To Josh Griner I leave the position of Knowledge Bowl Captain and my amazing HARPING abilities.
 To Mrs. Hampton I leave my ability to recognize different hair colors.
 To Mackenzie Christensen I leave the song "Wannabe" by the Spice Girls.
 To Cameron Nunn I leave my intelligence and rank.

I, Bradley Leitch, being of slow mind and fast body leave behind the following:
 I leave behind the way to talk.
 Leave my ability to spell.
 I leave my grammar.

I, Trevor Smith, being of deep mind and wise body leave behind the following:
 To Chad Kraft I leave my randomness under bored times.
 To Kyle Thurman I leave my wisdom in hope that it may be of use.
 To Adam Evans I leave my honesty for hopes of change.
 To Ms. Huffman I leave my undying skills of assistance.
 To all my friends I leave the memory of all our happy times.

I, Jonathan Durbin, being of humble mind and desirable body leave behind the following:
 To Moriah Montano I leave a recording of my voice to tell her daily how beautiful her hair is.
 To Cameron Nunn I leave the promise to one day go with her to a Britney or Miley concert.
 To Tiana Brownen I leave every witty phrase I've ever said, so she may pass them on to underclassmen.
 To Mrs. Huffman I leave my amazing writing skills, so she may improve her subpar abilities.
 To Sassy Marsha I leave a personal Horcrux for her to safely care for in her lair.

I, Jacoby Hymer, being of strong mind and stronger body leave behind the following:
To Emali Pickering I leave my ability to not be a grouch and my awesome driving skills.

To Dalton Lindsey I leave my teeth that don't fall out.

To Brett Burr I leave my awesome impersonations.

To Mrs. Hampton I leave my humor and jokes.

To Shelby Perry I leave my amazing-genius smarts.

I, Wes Storrs, being of open mind and sexy body leave behind the following:

To Brynna Crawford the Creeper Game.

To Josh Griner my magnetism.

To Dalton Lindsey my right power step.

To 7th hour debate Mr. Pitters and my baby.

To Mrs. Hamilton my heart and my Mustang.

I, Jordan Francis, being of strong mind and amazing body leave behind the following:

To Katie Brummett I leave behind my light stash. :) (Don't tell anyone!)

To Alex Holcomb my saluting abilities.

To Matthew Estes ALL of my answers. :)

To Coach T ALL of my brains and hair.

To Hill-b my ability to mouth everyone I see.

I, Steven Beebe, being of advanced mind and ripped body leave behind the following:

To the treasure hunters of the future, I leave behind my most precious belongings hidden within the depths of these walls.

Good Luck.

WHO'S NOT QUITE WHO

"Who needs work?!" is Mrs. Butterfield's motto in all her classes, especially AP Psychology.

Our favorite librarian, Mrs. Hampton, shows off her mad volleyball skills.

Coach Yust always has plenty to say to his students and his players.

Mr. Cole stuns the worldwide fashion industry when modeling his favorite sweater designed by Carlee Ballard.

Mrs. Schulte hates sporting events, pep rallies, and especially cheerleading.

Mr. Taylor's ride, Old Blue, turns the ladies' heads as he drives down the street.

With his normal charm and appeal, Mr. Page greets Emali--his favorite student-- every morning.

Mr. Howard keeps his desk organized and pristine throughout the year.

Coach Ed grooms his long, luscious locks before he starts his day.

Even Coach Whitehead is frustrated at how hard his P.E. class is.

Who's Not Quite Who

Who's Not Quite Who: Teacher Edition

When you look into a year book, one feature that is traditional is Who's Who. Out of the senior class, students are remembered for the best ride, class clown, most athletic, etc. But have you ever thought about your teachers being chosen for Who's Who? Well since teachers have had their chance during their high school years, its time for them to be part of Who's NOT Quite Who.

Mrs. Butterfield: Easiest Teacher, Mrs. Hampton: Most Athletic, Mr. Yust: Most Talkative, Mr. Cole: Best Dressed, Mrs. Schulte: Least Amount of School Spirit, Mr. Taylor: Best Ride, Mr. Page: Most Likely to Greet You with a Smile, Mr. Howard: Most Organized, Mr. Eidson: Best Hair, Mr. Whitehead: Hardest Teacher

Real Talent?

Parkour

Mackenzie Moore can't resist showing off her real talent as she flips and twists her way to class!

There is more to a person than just what kind of grades they get, which clubs they are involved in, or which sports they play. In high school, we rarely get to experience the many unique talents of our peers. So, we searched and searched the classrooms to find different and interesting talents that you never would have guessed. In our search, we also discovered that not everyone can be as talented as others. They have what we like to call "REAL" talent. So take a look at what we found and see if you can guess which of these students has serious talent and which ones are simply imitators.

--Kenzie Christensen

Singing

Elaina Bottles displays some real talent as she belts out a high "C"!

Ashley Hayes is Art-tastic!

Art

Ping Pong

Jacob Rhoades has ping pong skills that can't be touched!

Juggling

Josh Griner displays a difficult talent that impresses all!

Or "REAL" Talent?

Parkour

Austin Wood wouldn't miss a chance to show off his "REAL" Parkour skills!

Singing

Brynna Crawford's "REAL" talent is singing without hitting any of the right notes.

Art

Austin Keller's "REAL" artistic talent shines through with his piece he calls "Summer Vacation".

Ping Pong

Aaron Dorland brings some "interesting" talents to the table.

Juggling

"I want to be a 'juggular' when I grow up!" --Katie Griffin

UNDER THE

Thumb exercise is WAY more important than education!

[TEXTING IN CLASS]

Shelby doesn't care if she gets in trouble!
(But just in case, she's got her matching sweater.)

[DRESS CODE]

Lucky he's in good with the "top locker crowd!"

[SHARING A LOCKER]

Cody Hall is just too hungry to wait in line! "Get out of the way, Moriah!"

[CUTTING IN LINE]

World History can be exhausting!

[SLEEPING IN CLASS]

THE RADAR

Have you ever seen them NOT talking?
[TALKING IN CLASS]

She's got more important places to be!
[LEAVING CLASS]

He's got the beat! Literally, it's in his ear.
[USING IPOD'S IN CLASS]

Don't put your hands too close to this beast's mouth!
[EATING IN CLASS]

No one should underestimate love!
[P.D.A.]

Even though some students are completely conspicuous about rule breaking, being rebels and what not, some teachers are still oblivious as to what goes on... UNDER THE RADAR.

People still text in class with the "hoodie tricks." Couples still sneak smooches in the halls. Starving teenage boys still sprint and cut for the prized place in the front of the lunch line. Girls still slide out of sight with holes in their jeans. Upset, frustrated souls stuck in bottom lockers cram their books into the top lockers of "fortunate" ones. And even more things still go on... UNDER THE RADAR!

Famous Faces

Celebrity Look-a-likes

Walking down the busy hallway during this glorious year can often feel like walking the red carpet.

Studying the faces of our peers, it's easy to spot a few famous (and a few not-so-famous) Hollywood look-a-likes. Amongst them are Kermit the Frog, Borat, Kevin Bacon, and Miley Cyrus. Obviously Moriah Montano is Miley Cyrus, but can you guess the others?

Enjoy just some of the "FAMOUS FACES" of Seneca High.

—Warrior Staff

Piper Allen has "Great Success!" pretending to be Borat.

Hey, is that Kermit the Frog or Katie Griffin?

Mr. Townsend bears a striking resemblance to the creepy-stalker-killer dude in Prom Night.

Glen Danzig or Trevor McNorton? "Mother! Tell your children not to walk my way..."

"Come on vamanos, everybody let's go..." It's Dora. No! It's Hayli Lopez.

When not busy teaching, Mr. Elbert earns a little extra cash playing John Goodman's stunt double.

Janitor by day, great American writer by night. Gary Brosie looks uncannily like of Mice and Men author John Steinbeck.

Due to copyright law, we were-unfortunately-unable to provide pictures of the REAL stars.

Mr. Cole, aka Gollum, brings the ring of power closer to Mt. Doom.

Wes Storrs certainly looks like a young Kevin Bacon (think Footloose).

Who would wanna tangle with Diddy Kong, aka Cole Lankford?

Mr. Rushing bears a striking resemblance to Superbowl-winning quarterback Aaron Rogers. Go Packers!

If Miley Cyrus ever takes a blow to the head, Moriah Montano is ready to stand in.

Free "Willey" swims the depths of Seneca High School.

The force and the tanning booth are strong in Luke Skywalker look-a-like Aaron Dorland.

"MOVIN' IN" to our Sweet New Facilities

As everyone "MOVED IN" for the 2010-2011 school year, we were all super-stoked about the sweet, new stuff we received; stuff that everyone can appreciate--students, teachers, or visiting schools that struggle to hide their insane jealousy. And who wouldn't be jealous after parking in our new and impressive parking lot, and then walking into our main entrance, complete with not one, but eight doors to choose from. The envy only increases when stepping into our sprawling commons/cafeteria which is surrounded by sparkling trophy cases to present our abundance of trophies and honors.

In the center of all this luscious awesomeness stands our noble and equally awesome mascot, looking proudly over the students as they go about their day. The lunch ladies now have a spotless kitchen to prepare chicken patties in. The teachers can sip on their eighth cup of coffee and converse with fellow educators in a bigger and better-lit teacher's lounge. Those who consider themselves intellectuals (or those who would rather stick to a solid picture book) can peruse the bookshelves of a stunning new library while experiencing a breathtaking view of the elegant water fountain and outside lounge area. Even the counselor has been given a roomy office in which to counsel in.

And the highlight of our "new stuff": the shiny and intimidating gym for both those who are gifted with athleticism and those who prefer to simply keep a respectful distance while bursting with school spirit. To match the awe of the new gym, there are also four magnificent locker rooms that are big enough for the entire school to change in (or just stand in fully clothed during tornado drills).

With all of these sweet additions to our school, it might be difficult for some to "MOVE ON" once the school year is over. --Lani Blagg

Mr. Evans

School Counselor

What do you think about your new counseling space?

"It's wonderful. We have room for meetings with college reps, teachers, parents, students, etc...."

Mrs. Hampton

World's Loudest Librarian

What are your thoughts on the new library?

"I love it! It's bright and airy and a wonderful environment for everyone."

After twenty-one years of service to the Seneca R7 School District, Bonnie Morehead is retiring. Bonnie served the District in various capacities throughout the years, and in the last few years as the high school principal's secretary. She was always knowledgeable and helpful to the faculty and staff. Without her expertise, many of us would be lost. Bonnie spoiled all of us by helping in every regard and answering any question with a friendly smile. We will greatly miss Bonnie as our helper, our coworker, and our friend.

As this interesting year draws to a close,
I would like to take a few sentences to thank those special people who helped me
(Mr. Page) produce this year's annual.
Mrs. "H", thanks for editing and being my 2nd mother--I definitely needed two this year. Bonnie, without you I would be just a wee bit closer to insanity. You will certainly be missed!!! Lisa Graham, as always, thanks for all of your wonderful pictures.
To all those who purchased ads, sincere thanks:
without you we could not afford to produce this book. To my sweet staff, nice job (you were certainly one of the better staffs I have ever worked with)!

--Jeff Page

The 2010/2011 Warrior was produced by the Herff
Jones company. Amy Morgan is their excellent rep.

Moving In...

This is our swan song...

Senorita Ramirez should have let him eat in class. Someone get him some chips and salsa. STAT!

Closing out the year with one final song.

"Watch me light this fire! Abracadabra!!!"

"Summer is here. Let's dance!"

"Freshmen, freshmen. Wherefore are thou, freshmen?"

Teamwork & glory.

Whether you like it or not, the school year is reaching its end; and it's once again time to move on. This year was full of ups and downs, wins and losses, friends and homework, and endless memories. Freshmen have moved in and found their niche just in time to move up. Sophomores have come a long way since their first year; and they're so close to being upperclassmen, they can taste it. The juniors have been anxiously awaiting their turn to be seniors and are now fostering big dreams for their future and scheduling blow-off classes. And finally, after approximately 720 school lunches, 64 progress reports (signed and turned in, of course), and 5,040 hours spent in the halls and classrooms of Seneca, seniors are ready to walk the stage toward their future.

We, the 2010-2011 Warrior Staff, enjoyed trying to capture as many of these moments as we could, so that you can always have a look back to this year and not only smile (or laugh sometimes), but remember what it was like to move in-- and move on.

--Lani Blagg & Emily Pickering

Remember the days when we used to study?

Enjoying a bird's-eye-view of the new gym.

"We love our new kitchen and cooking with our head chef Chief Redcloud."

"Peace out, girl scouts."

Thumbs-up to cleaning up our environment.

"How do you like your eggs?"

Our school spirit never dies.

Got mustard?
Probably not!
Mason has it all!!

Third out fist-pump
like a champ. DUH!

Moving On

Anyone figure out $2 + 2$ yet?
