THE SENECA WARRIOR

1960

Vol. XIV

Seneca High School
Seneca, Missouri

Foreword

"Ulmus americana" is the classification given the American elm by biologists. Perhaps no tree is more clearly imprinted in the minds and hearts of students, past and present, of Seneca High School, than the aged elm that has stood on the southwest corner of the lawn for generations. Spreading its branches like a huge umbrella, it has been in the school days background of untold numbers of students, who no doubt unconsciously, if not consciously, have memories of its majestic presence throughout the various seasons.

Dedication

To Mr. Claude Cooper, the 1960 SENECA WARRIOR is dedicated. Mr. Cooper has been a member of the Board of Education for seventeen years, and during that time he has been absent from only three board meetings. This long record of service is especially appreciated by all who are interested in the promotion of good schools.

For many years he has been a highly respected citizen of our community. He was graduated from Seneca High School in May, 1925, and was president of the student body his senior year.

Held in high esteem by all who know him, admired by all for his pleasant friendliness, faithful at all times to the best interests of students of all ages, Mr. Cooper is most deserving of our appreciation which we express in the dedication of this yearbook.

Students Served by Friendly Faculty

Friendly, capable teachers make all the difference in the world when young people are getting their education, and Seneca students felt that their teachers were among the best. Only two of them were new to the faculty this year--Mr. Gallup and Mr. Fowler.

Planning for daily classes, extra-curricular activities for students, and taking night classes in higher education kept them quite busy all year.

CLASSES

Mrs. McCracken had a large bookkeeping class of thirty-five, and most of them demonstrated considerable ability in the subject.

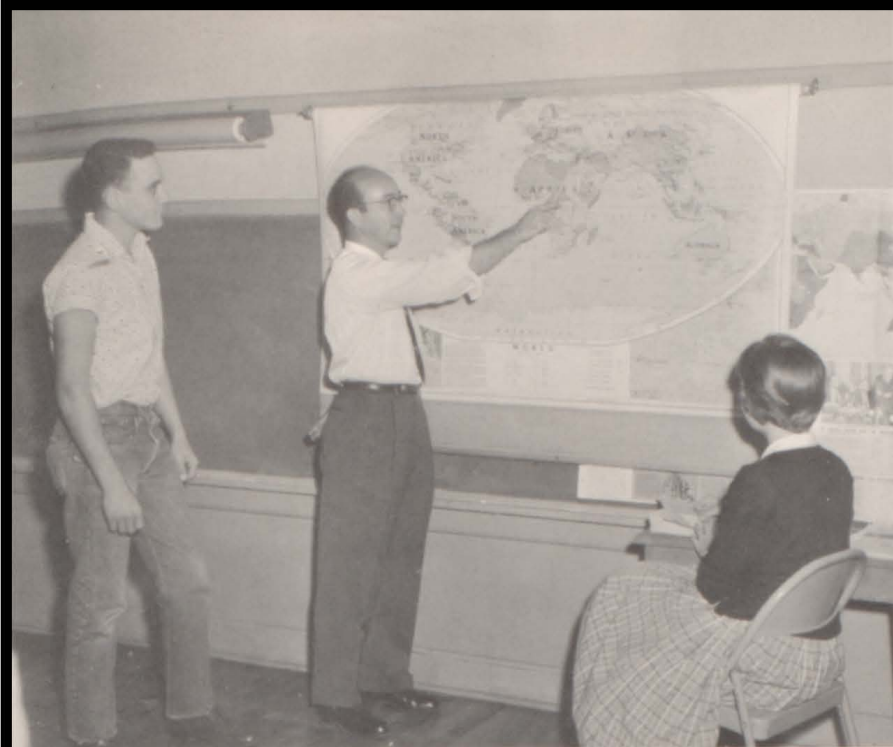

At left, Mrs. Nichols teaches a new shorthand form to her class. The girls feel they have accomplished a great deal in learning this quick method of taking notes.

Commercial Students Train for Business

At left, below, a group of first-year typing students are shown with Mrs. Nichols. Most of the beginning typists are juniors. At right, Mrs. McCracken is instructing Margie Clouse in the operation of the

Gary Calloway, Mr. Martin, and Barbara Pence discuss a world history assignment. Mr. Martin also taught geography and American problems.

At right, Shira Sherer recites in citizenship class for Mrs. Buzzard, who also taught American history to the juniors.

Social Studies Promote Good Citizenship

Forty Take Drivers Ed

A most practical and very popular course continues to be drivers' training, taught by Mr. Passley. Nelson Holt and Eugene Cook are in the new Chevrolet used in the class.

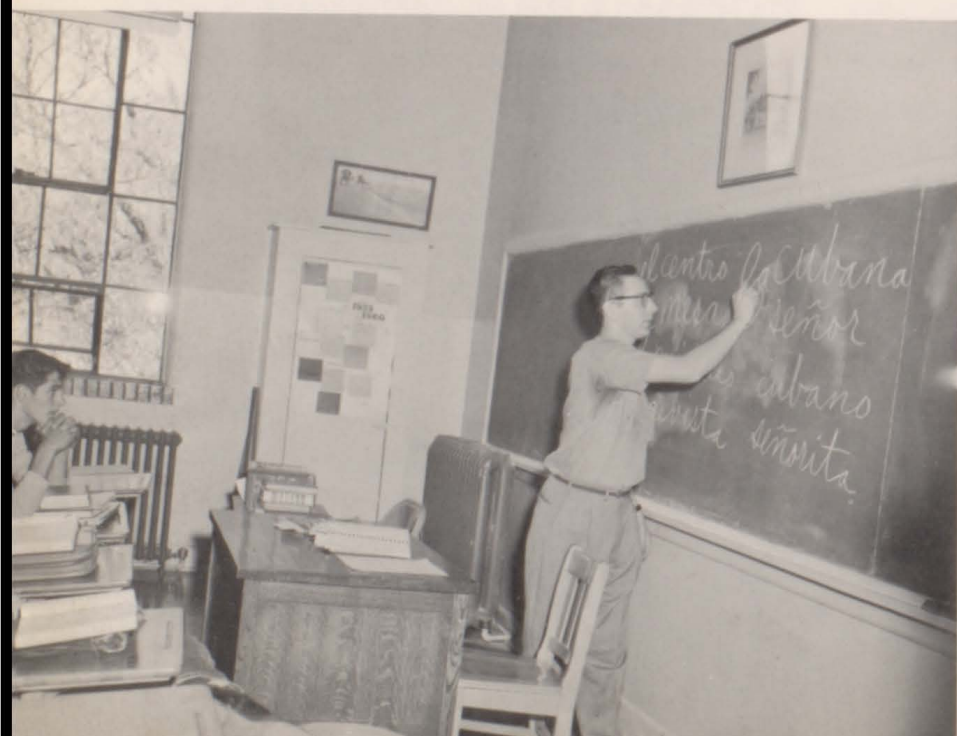

Mrs. Lankford has Mary Moffett read before freshman English class.

Language Arts Program for First Time in

Spanish was the foreign language course introduced in the language arts department this year. Thirty students enrolled in the class. Lately it has become apparent that as a nation we lack a highly necessary qualification: Proficiency in other peoples' languages; so it was felt the addition of this course was a step in the right direction.

Four units of English were taught--three sections each for freshmen, sophomores, and juniors; two, for seniors. The importance of correct oral and written composition, as well as the basic fundamentals of our English language, were stressed; and Spanish students listen to Mr. Gallup's introduction of the day's vocabulary study.

Eldona Ridenour, Margie Clouse,
Barbara Heistand, Barbara Pence,
Yolonda Platner.

Includes a Foreign Language Fourteen Years

the study of literature was included, too.

Three beginning speech classes were in the schedule this year, as evidence of the growth in that department; and an advanced speech class was offered. Seventeen students were enrolled in the latter--spending much of their time in producing one-act plays, readings, prose and poetry interpretation, set construction, and special entertainment throughout the school year.

unit test as Mrs. Gilbert supervises.

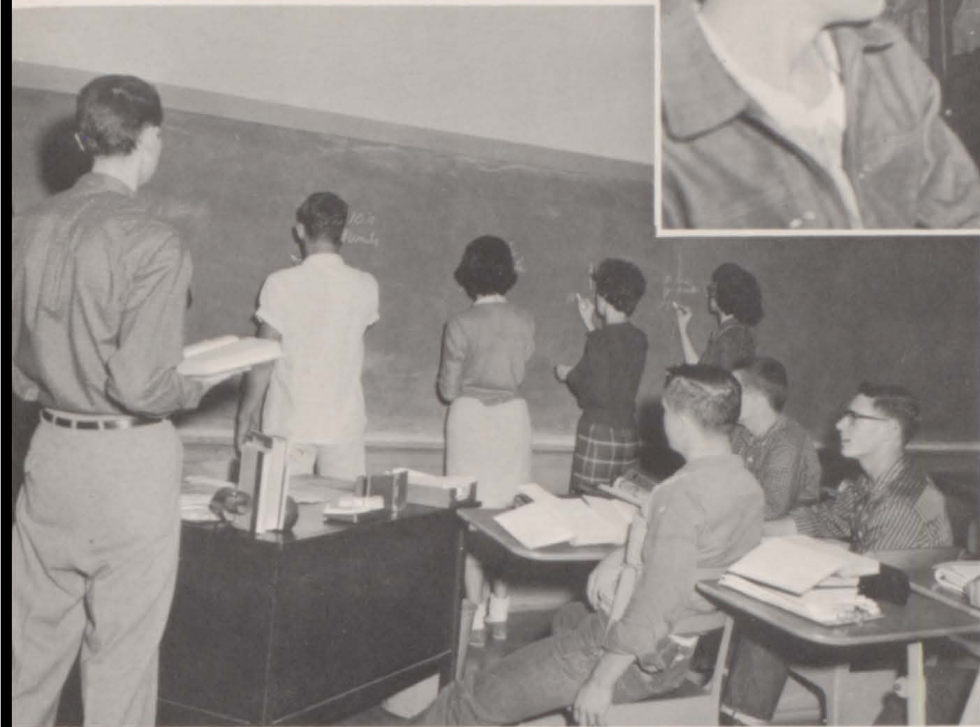

Quinton Hirsch, Bob Howard, Mr. Jones, Janice Cook, and Andrea Brewer conduct a biology experiment.

Opportunities for Study of Science Increase at S. H. S.

Shirley DeMasters, Ernestine Price, Amos Walden, and Ralph Forrest work during senior science laboratory period.

Mrs. Wells is shown with her freshman students of algebra.

Mr. Record taught general math, algebra, geometry, and physics in addition to the advanced algebra class pictured.

Importance of Mathematics Stressed

Guidance Offered in Planning Future

Information for helping students make vocational and educational decisions was always available in the guidance office. At right, Mrs. McCracken counsels with Roger McCoy.

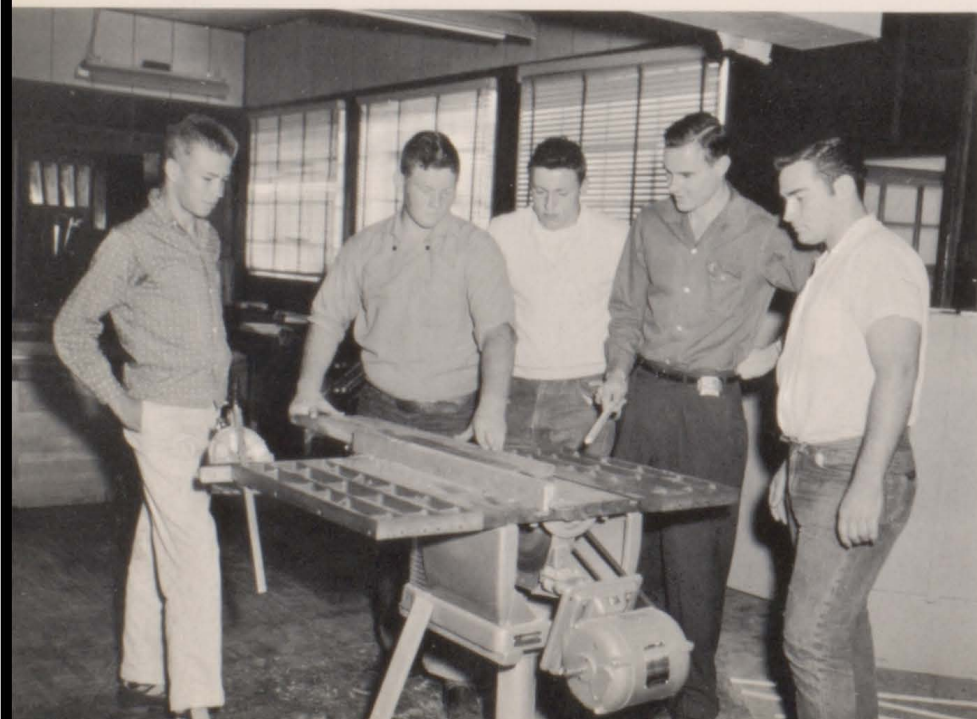

Larry Ellis, Ralph Forrest, Richard Rhodes, Donald Link.

Woodworking Skills and Tools Mastered in Industrial Arts

Courses in this department included Industrial Arts I, II, and III; Mechanical Drawing, and Crafts. Beginning classes learned how to operate the various power tools, and the advanced classes went on to develop their skill.

Crafts and mechanical drawing students had to make a fresh start in October, for all of their supplies and projects were lost in the flood which filled the school basement where those classes are held.

Dick Metscher, Bob Hottle, C. A. Brott, Mr. Currey, Kenneth Hohlier.

Wilma Koch, Margie Clouse,
Donna Houchin, Deanna Durbin,
Connie Cunningham.

Girls Train to Become Better Homemakers

Learning to cook a meal for three in 30 minutes is quite an accomplishment for any girl, especially when you demonstrate how to do it before an audience. Marilyn Blatter, a junior, was Seneca's representative in the November cooking contest which creates much interest and excitement for the home economics department each fall.

Advanced students served the Commercial Club Ladies Night dinner just before Christmas.

Judy Kellenberger, Erma Nimmo,
Pat Stoner, Judy Austin, Carolyn
Lankford, Pat Absher, Betty Hartzler, Mrs. Davis, Donna Houchin.

P. E. Required of All

When the weather was nice outside, boys' and girls' physical education classes were often held on the east playground, and sometimes the schedule was touch football and softball, respectively. With the remodeling of the gym floor after the flood, this type of activity was used even more this year.

It was early in December that Mr. Fowler started a strenuous calisthentic program, and then how the girls did groan for a few days!

Juniors — Class of 1961

Presenting "Dr. Hudson's Secret Journal" was one of our most interesting accomplishments as juniors, and of course preparing for the spring banquet was lots of fun, too. The football queen and Miss Merry Christmas were both from our class, and many other honors came our way.

We took scholastic aptitude tests this year, for many of us are planning for college, and our class schedules reflected increased emphasis on science and mathematics.

Sophomores — Class of 1962

Ours was the largest class returning to S.H.S., although statistics on all classes seldom varied more than five pupils all year. Several new faces joined our class, and we spent most of our time working hard for Mrs. Gilbert and Mr. Martin, for they had us all in English and world history, respectively.

We began to find out about our special aptitudes and interests and to plan our courses accordingly.

Freshmen — Class of 1963

Ours was the smallest freshman class at Seneca in years--we numbered only eighty-seven, instead of the customary one hundred plus. Mrs. Buzzard and Mrs. Lankford had us all in citizenship and English and tried to get us started out right in high school.

It didn't take most of us long to acquire a fat zippered notebook, which seemed to be the trademark of the studious upperclassmen, and we soon became a natural part of the high school.

The elementary school again over-flowed into the high school building, and Mrs. Jones taught approximately 40 eighth grade students down in Room 7. Mr. McCracken, grade principal, taught their math class.

Seniors Cast in "Cheaper by the Dozen"

The well-known comedy, "Cheaper by the Dozen," from the book by Frank B. Gilbreth, Jr., was chosen for the senior production in April. The story involved Dad, an efficiency expert, who was convinced that what works in the factory will work in the home.

Lost Creek on War Path

An unexpected vacation for Seneca schools was necessary when the town was flooded on October 2, after 13 inches of rain. At school the damage was great, as it was all over town, and the cafeteria and gym floor were complete losses. It was the worst flood here in over sixty years.

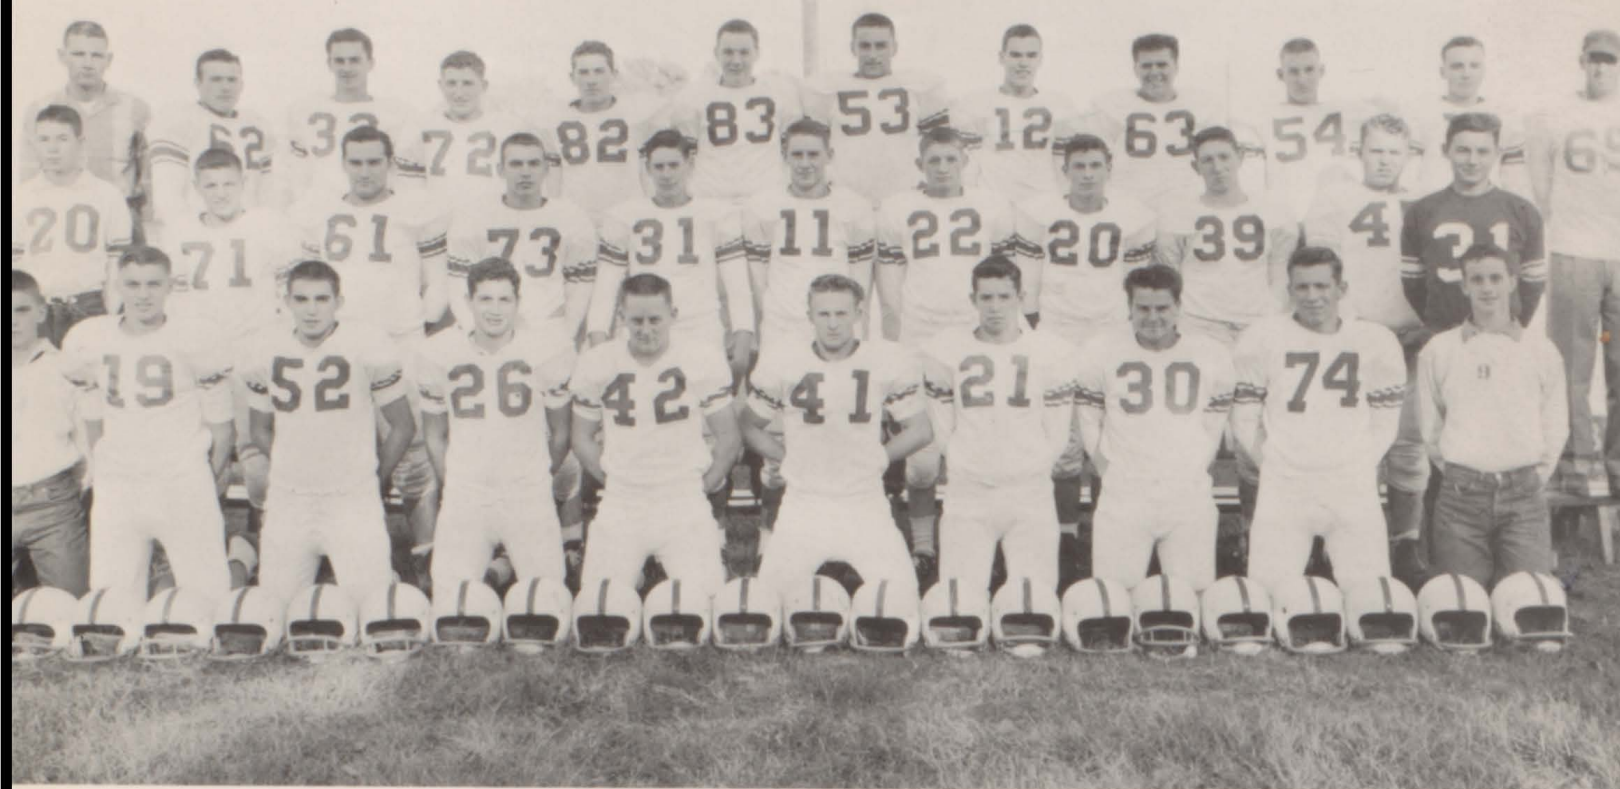

"Thou has lived before, live after me,
Thou ancient, friendly, faithful tree."
--Henry Van Dyke

Friday, September 25, the Aurora Houn' Dawgs defeated the Indians in a thriller at Seneca. With two minutes left in the second quarter, Larry Steele ran 60 yards to make the score 6 and 7, Aurora's favor. But when the final gun sounded, Aurora had marked up two more t.d.'s, and the final score was 19 to 6.

Indians Fight Through Football Season

The Seneca Indians started practice August 15 with fourteen lettermen returning. Their season opener on September 11 with strong Neosho was lost 28 to 20. The Mo-Kan Conference schedule opened with Galena here on September 18.

Probably the most thrilling play of the season was the 80-yard punt return against Baxter Springs for a touchdown by Ronnie Brattin.

Football season ended with Philip Hines being named a unanimous choice of conference coaches for left end on the all-conference team.

Ronnie has circled the end and heads down the field. Bob is standing by to total up the yardage on his statistics sheet.

Bob Smith is out in front, getting Ronnie a few more yards. Dan Hoff and Quinton Hirsch are trying to get down field to put some more Aurora men out of the way.

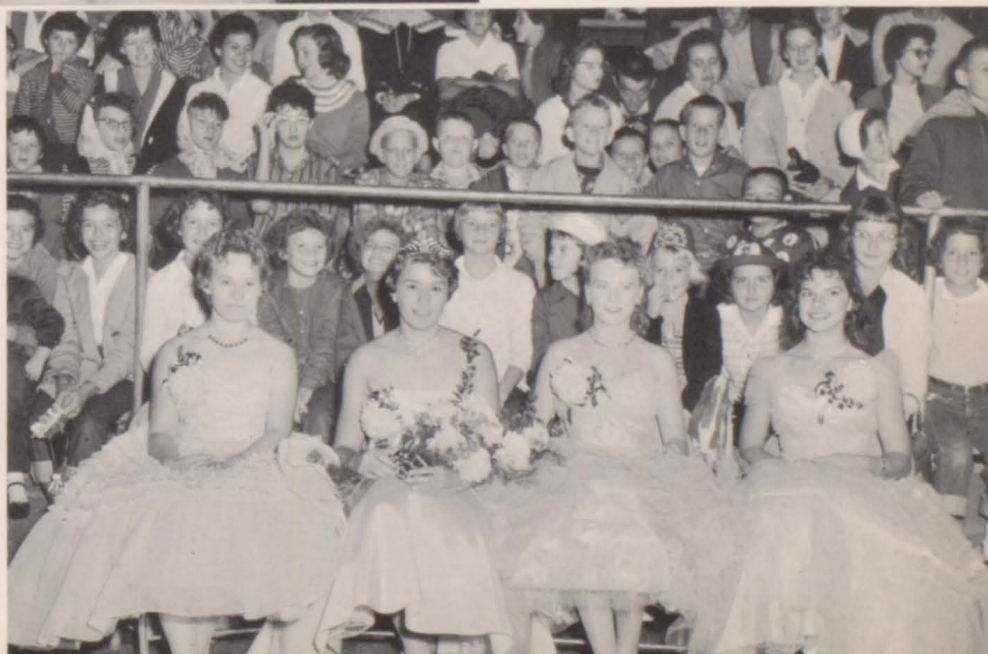

Hines has his man down before Hirsch can give an assist. Ole-man has been taken out of action, but Callihan is coming up to help.

Larry is the clear, ready to turn on the speed. Looks like Hines helped with that defensive man down. This is one of Larry's special long-gain plays.

The Queen and her Court view the game from their place of honor. The football boys must have found it difficult to pick one of these girls over the others, and it looks like there are some future queens in the bleachers.

Coach Burl Fowler; Chester Pittman, G; Terry Anderson, G; Ken Rogers, G; Dwight Vowels, F; Philip Hines, F; Don Link, C; Larry Ellis, C; Jim Murdock, F; Mark King, F; Bob Smith, G; Darry Sandtorf, manager.

Fans Boost Basketball Teams

Basketball practice began late in Seneca this year, due to the loss of our gym floor in the flood. After having a splendid new tile floor installed, the Indians took advantage of three days' practice before going on their annual trip to the Carthage Invitational Tournament. There were four returning lettermen-- Terry Anderson, Ken Rogers, Philip Hines, and Jim Murdock.

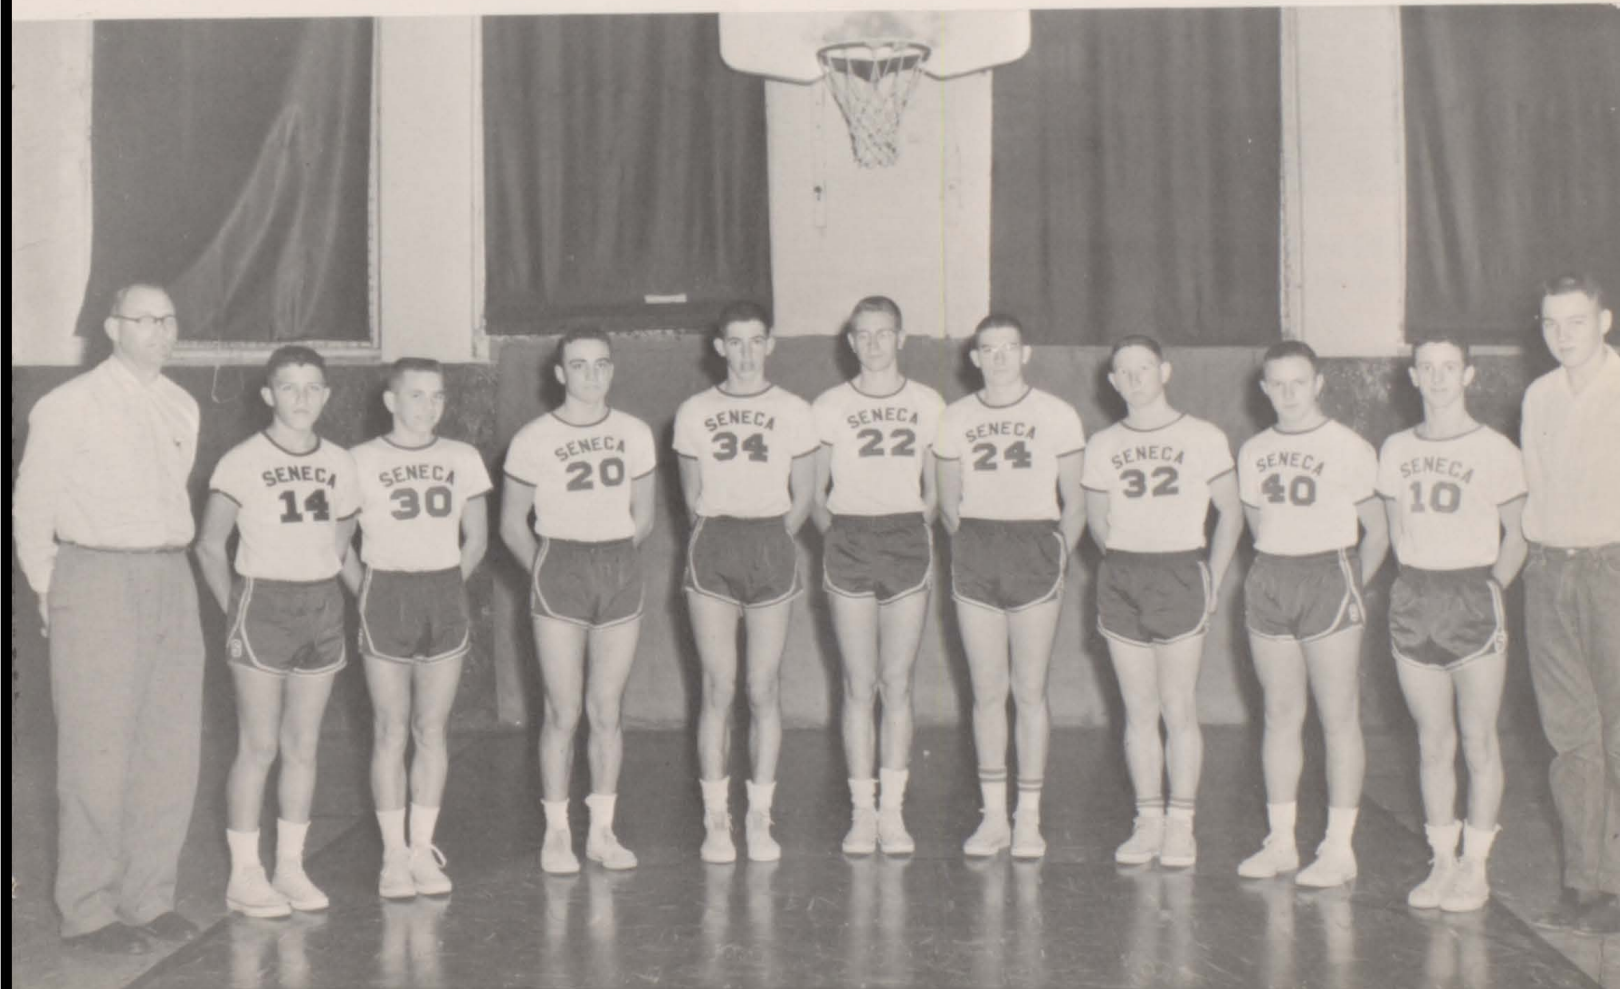

Seneca opened the season with two non-conference games, then started MoKan Conference play with Galena, Kansas, on January 5. Conference play was interrupted for the MoKan tournament, January 11-16. The cagers then closed out the regular season with Sarcxie, February 19, and competed in the Class M Regional Tourney, Feb. 22-27.
